Dying Miners Write on Wood at Nanaimo.

THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL.

Singular Action of Italian Laborers—Verdict Against Steller, Near Riverside.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD

VICTORIA, B. C., May 8.—Twenty-five bodies of whites and ten of Chinese were brought up to-day at the mines. The fire is nearly extinguished. There is nothing but funerals here, at all hours. Ten undertakers are busy day and night. The bodies recovered to-day looked well, having died from the effects of after-damp. One wrote on timber in the mine: "Thirteen hours in misery. (Signed) John Stevens." Below was written, "1, 2, 3 o'clock." On another timber was "5 o'clock." A lot of writing appeared in Chinese. Over sixty bodies are yet in the mine. The explosion drove a rock weighing three tons a distance of five yards in the bottom of the mine.

THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL.

It is Expected at Santa Ana in One Month.

SANTA ANA, Cal., May 8.—Tracklaying on the Riverside, Santa Ana & Los Angeles branch of the A. T. & S. F. Road is being done at the rate of a half mile a day. Chief Engineer Pearis is the authority for the statement that the tracklayers reached Riacon last night, twelve miles South of Arlington and tweuty from Santa Ana. Tracklaying at this rate will reach Santa Ana June 15th. It is reliably reported that the road will be immediately constructed to Los Angeles by way of Buena Park, and Fulton Wells. The two latter towns are new towns being laid out by the railroad company, with depot facilities, hotel and handsome parks. An elegantly designed fountain will ornament Buena Park.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT

And Remarkable Incense of Italian Laborers.

NANAIMO, B. C., May 8.—Yesterday morning as the construction train was coming into Port Moody a large boulder fell, and striking on axle of the rear car threw it off the track. An Italian standing on the forward platform, was pitched headforemost off the car and was run over and killed instantly. Italian laborers are hostile over the affair, and, like Chinamen, will not listen to reason, preferring to believe the company caused the rock to fall on purpose. Two other workmen were slightly injured.

VERDICT AGAINST STRELLER

For Killing Pedro Castro at Perris last Friday.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., May 8.—The coroner's jury in the case of the shooting of Pedro Castro on Friday, brought in a verdict of malicious and wilfull murder against Streller. Streller has given himself up to the officers at Perris, claiming that the shooting was in self defense. As the murder was committed close to the county line between this county and San Diego, the officers doubt whether he will be tried in this county or at San Diego. The officers at Perris hold the prisoner and will not give him up to the San Bernardino officers until that point is settled. The examination will take place to-morrow at Perris. The friends of Pedro Castro, the murdered man, are liable to take the law into their own hands should a chance occur during the examination, as there is a strong feeling against Streller.

BASE BALL RECORD.

Clements in Collision Breaks His Left Leg.

SALINAS, May 8.—Johnson and Riordans 22, Old Missions 13.

STOCKTON, May 8.—A. & Gs. 8, San Francisco 3.

MERCED, May 8.—El Capitans 24, Turlocks 17. Geo. Clements, second base of the Turlocks, met with an accident during the game. He came into collison with another player while making the first base and broke his left leg. The spectators made up a purse of $55 for surgical charges.

SANTA CRUZ, May 8.—Watsonvilles 21, Santa Cruzes 9.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—Louisville 4, St. Louis 6.

CINCINNATI, May 8.—Cincinnati 6, Cleveland 7.

ATLAS BEATS THE PIONEERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—A game of baseball that was played here to-day between the Atlas and Pioneers drew the largest crowd of the season. Scores of vehicles surrounded the diamond field. Malee and McLaughlin, McMullen and Carroll constituted the batteries for the two nines. The Atlas were first to the bat, and made four runs, batting McMullen freely. The Pioneers did not make a run until the fifth inning, when they made one, adding three more in the seventh. Atlas made four in the first inning, one tally in the third, three in the sixth and one in the eighth, winning by a score of nine to four. It was a heavy batting game, Mullee only fanning out two men and McMullen six.

VERDICT OF MURDER.

Just For Killing a Mississippi Editor.

JACKSON, Miss., May 8.—The jury inquest in the case of R. D. Gamberell editor of the Sword and Shield, who was shot and killed late on Thursday night by Col. Jones S. Hamilton, lessee of the penitentiary, adjourned at 11:30 o'clock last night after two days of almost continuous session. The rendered a verdict as follows: We the jury of inquest in the case of the death of Roderick Gamberell, find that he came to his death from a pistol shot and wounds inflicted by the hands of Jones S. Hamilton as principal, and others as abettors unknown to the jury.

Helping the Sufferers.

WALLA WALLA, May 8.—The Mayor has issued a proclamation to the citizens, asking them to subscribe relief for the Nanaimo widows and orphans. The Statesman and Union are getting up a subscription. Considerable is subscribed.

TUCSON MINING NEWS.

Its Citizens Will Put up Sampling Works.

TUCSON, May 8.—Owing to the heavy shipments of ore from this section, the merchants have subscribed $3000 to build smelting works, which will be erected immediately. If the output of ore continues these same parties will erect larger smelters. Quite a boom is commencing in mining circles and more ore is being taken from the mines at present than at any time during the past twenty years.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Of the Father of a Lady Residing in Los Angeles.

ASTORIA, Ogn., May 8.—Yesterday, Benj. Strang, an old pioneer of this State and for many years a resident of Salem, met with a fatal accident. Strang was a tinner by trade, and while putting the roof on a building, lost his footing and fell, and dislocated his neck. Death was instantaneous. Deceased was 55 years old. He leaves a wife and four daughters, one of whom is Mrs. Jane Gould, of Los Angeles, California.

Under the Microscope.

"Now, you see," said Dr. Schaeffer, the microscopist, as he held before a Washington Star reporter's eye a little piece of red something he had taken from a bottle of alcohol. "You see, if the cannibals had eaten him he would have killed the whole tribe. But it was not the trichinosis that killed him. He died from some other cause." The thing held in the doctor's hand was a piece of the diaphragm of a man who died at the insane asylum, and it was completely filled with trichinæ. They could be easily seen with the naked eye.

On a table stood that inquisitive little instrument with which scientists discover microbes, bacteria, infusoris, fungi and all those death-dealing invisibles before which human nature stands in awe. The reporter learned that upon the glass slide under the little instrument there might be assembled in full war paint microbes enough to infest a large city, and he stepped back a little from the table. Then when he thought that science has discovered that sugar, water, meat, cheese, tea, coffee and even flour were vehicles in which these terrible little creatures have free passage into the blood of their human victims, the reporter decided to forswear all food until Congress had passed a law for the extermination of microbes.

The doctor is in constant intercourse with these little terrors and gets into their secrets. He studies their habits and is familiar with their mode of thought. He is on terms of easy familiarity with them.

"Is it really very dangerous to eat bread and sugar, or to drink water?" the scribe asked him.

"Mites are sometimes found in sugar. They are all dead in refined sugar. They live only in sugar that has not been refined," was the reply. "In refined sugar you eat their dead bodies. They are often dreadfully mutilated by the refining process. Arms, legs, heads and trunks are scattered in all directions. As to their hurting you, let me say I will eat just as many mites as you will bring along. It would take many millions to make a good meal. I am very skeptical about the alleged microbes of disease. For that reason I have not much faith in Pasteur. I fail to find this minute life in fresh fruit, vegetables, meat, water, flour or anything of that sort. They come with decay. The life that is found in refined sugars is no more injurious to the human body than are the little skippers that are found in cheese. Limburger and other 'high' cheese abound in microbes produced by partial decay, but they are harmless. I do not think these things develop in and remain in the human body. I do not think they are constructed for that.

"You may remember," said the doctor, "that a learned gentleman of my profession allowed some water to stay on raw meat in the sun for two days, until it had begun to decay and was full of bacteria. He then drank it to see if the bacteria would get into his blood. Then at certain periods he took drops of his blood and examined it under the microscope. At first he found one microbe in his blood, then two, and then more, etc., so he came to the conclusion that they went at once into the blood after being taken into the stomach.

"But this was not conclusive. To test it still further I tried the experiment. I have a strong stomach. I drank water prepared in the same way, and in which there were many thousand million bacteria. At no time did any of them pass into my blood. I fear not 'the deadly microbe.'

"There is nothing in fresh food and fresh water. The life that is to be found in water is not injurious. Stale water and decayed food are bad. These microbes are vegetable, not animal life. With trichinæ it is different. They live naturally upon the animal organism. Raw pork is a thing to be shunned. The chances are that there are trichinæ in any piece of pork you may come across. A vast number of hogs have trichinosis. The hog is a terrible breeder of disease. Besides being responsible for trichinosie, it distributes tape worms. It is a great crime for butchers to sell pork that has been fed on the offal of a slaughter-house, as I have seen done in this district. It is spreading disease, just as a farmer would spread thistles if he sowed them with his wheat. They eat small particles of tape worms from the entrails of other animals, and the eggs develop very rapidly, and may be planted in the human body by the eating of the hog flesh.

"From two joints of a tape worm I have seen under the glass myriads of the eggs flowing out. I handle most any poisonous thing without fear, but I am always careful to wash my hands in alcohol or carbolic acid after handling any part of a tape worm. These are the things that belong with animal life and are to be dreaded. There is nothing to fear from microbes, that scientists speak of in fruit, flour and sugar, etc.

"I have formerly drank water out of the canal. I would not do it now, but it would not be the ordinary impurities in the water that would deter me. The ordinary slop or filth that might be thrown into the river may be very disgusting, but there would not necessarily any disease come from it. Disease would result only from diseased matter. Typhoid fever might be spread through the water if the slops from the sick room, containing the germs of the fever were thrown into the water. No one knows how many miles of water it would take to wash it away. It would be as if you threw millions of fish eggs in the river above the aqueduct. The chances would be that some of them would find their way through the water pipes into some one's drinking glass.

"But to sum up, microbes are not found in fresh food, and they aren't such terrible things anyhow."

EASTERN.

Sad Death of a Young Lady.

FOR GOOD OF AGRICULTURE.

Terrible Tragedy in Kentucky—Eastern Orange Market—Slaughter, of Socorro, Not Killed.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

LEXINGTON, May 8.—A terrible tragedy took place this morning near Spring Station on the farm of Capt. Jas. Blackburn, Ex-Secretary of State, and brother of Senator J. C. S. Blackburn. Miss Henrietta Blackburn, accompanied by her cousin, Henrietta C. Hempstead, a young lady of nineteen years, went out to shoot at a mark with a small rifle. They were accompanied by Samuel Blackburn, a young man of 22, brother of Henrietta Blackburn, and a friendly contest began as to who should shoot first. The three engaged in a playful struggle for the possession of the rifle, and in the struggle the weapon was discharged, the ball piercing the heart of Miss Hempstead and killing her instantly. The unfortunate young lady gave a slight scream, dropped on the grass and breathed her last before her horrified cousins realized the awful calamity that had befallen them. Messengers were hurried off for medical and other aid, and it was with the utmost difficulty that Miss Blackburn and Hempstead's mother could be restored from the shock occasioned by the unexpected and terrible death of the young lady. Miss Hempstead was a general favorite.

FOR AGRICULTURAL BENEFIT.

Chief Signal Officer Intends a Beneficial Method.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—General Greeley, Chief Signal Officer, has arranged to issue, begining with to-day, a special weekly bulletin, with the view of promptly placing before the public, each Monday morning, reliable information relative to climatic indications in all the agricultural districts of the country. It is believed that these bulletins, containing deficiencies or excesses relative to temperature and rainfall during the growing season, will serve as a reliable basis for determining the conditions to be favorable or not for growing crops.

Eastern Orange Market.

CHICAGO, May 8.—California lemons are in moderate demand, and slow at $2 to $3 per box. Oranges are in fair supply, of which there were moderate offerings. Choice fruit is held steady, while common is rather easy. There is no material change in prices. Following are quotations by the box: Bright Riverside, good to fancy, $3.50 to $4.50; San Bernardino, $3.50 to $4.25; Santa Ana, $3 to $3.25; St. Michael, paper rind, $3.75 to $4; Orange, $2.50 to $3; Los Angeles, $2.75 to $3.25; Navel oranges, according to quality, $5 to $6; Duarte, $3 to $3.50; San Gabriel, $2 25 to $3; blood oranges, fancy, $5 to $7; culls, $2.

Seriously Hurt.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 8.—W. Slaughter, the wealthy cattle and land owner, Socorro county, who was reported shot and killed last Friday, is not dead but seriously hurt. His assailants have not been captured.

QUEEN KAPAIOLANI.

She is Handsomely Entertained in Boston.

BOSTON, May 8.—Queen Kapaiolani, Princess Liliiokilani and others of the royal party, arrived in this city this morning. Accompanied by a Committee of the City Government, they proceeded directly to the Parker House, where they are quartered. The Queen remained at the hotel until late in the afternoon, but the Princess and General Dominis attended Park-street church in the forenoon. About noon the Mayor and Mrs. O'Brien called at the hotel and paid their respects to the Queen, and Adjutant-General Dalton called to present a letter of greeting from Governor Amos. Her Majesty attended services in Trinity Church at 4 P. M. in company with the Princess, and a 6 with a select party dined at Parker's. This evening the Princess and other visitors witnessed the performance of the oratorio the Golden Legend, in Eusie Hall. The Queen is remaining in her apartments during the day. Col. Boyd was shown the city sewerage system, in which he appeared greatly interested. Individual members of the party were entertained in various ways by members of the city committee.

LABORERS' CONVENTION.

Employes Boycott a Brewers' Association.

READING, Pa., May 8.—The Fifth Convention of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad employés was held here to-day, and about one hundred delegates, representing every department, were in attendance. Quite a number of grievances were presented, but their nature and action taken on them could not be learned. A resolution was unanimously passed authorizing the boycotting of beer manufactured by the Philadelphia Brewers' Association.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

Arrival of Editor O'Brien Bound for Canada.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Umbria did not arrive to-day in time to cross the bar. She was not sighted until six o'clock, and owing to the foggy weather she anchored. Editor O'Brien is on board, and immediately after landing he will proceed to Canada.

McGLYNN'S REVELATION.

He Holds Up the New Cross He is to Bear.

BOSTON, May 8.—Rev. Dr. McGlynn, of New York, lectured to a large audience in the Boston theater to-night upon the "Cross of the New Crusade," and met with a hearty reception.

Death of Billy Welch.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Billy Welch, the well known minstrel, died in this city yesterday.

CONDITION OF WHEAT CROP.

Exact Reports from all the Western States.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Farmers' Review will print the following crop report this week: Rains have been beneficial to the winter wheat in all the States reporting this week; but more rain is required to give that crop and spring wheat more rapid growth. The seeding of spring wheat is completed, and in many instances the crop is above ground, and promising well. The average of the condition of winter wheat, in fourteen counties in Illinois, reporting this week, is 88 per cent. Reports on the condition of spring wheat are beginning to come in. Dewitt county reports an average condition good of 110 per cent. Fulton and Stark counties 90; Stephenson, 100 per cent. In Whiteside, the condition is backward, and in Woodward the condition is good.

The general average condition of winter wheat in Indiana counties reporting this week, is 87 per cent.

The condition of winter and spring wheat in Iowa is reported as fine, but the acreage small. The condition of spring wheat is good in nearly every report.

The condition of winter wheat in Kansas, on the whole, is not promising.

In Kentucky, the condition of the crop is quite satisfactory. The same may be said of Michigan, with the exception of Berrien county. In Minoesota the winter wheat is in a fair condition, but spring wheat is not above the ground yet. The prospects in Missouri are very good for a full crop of winter wheat. Winter and spring wheat in Nebraska are in fairly good condition, but more rain is still required. The average condition in Ohio is rather low. The condition of the crop in Wisconsin and also in Dakota is fair. Meadows and pastures are improving, but in many localities there has been rain.

Government Control of Railways.

At a speech made before the Boston Railroad Clerks' Association, April 19th, Mr. J. T. Furber, General Manager of the Boston and Maine Railroad, said:

"At no very distant day, which I may not live to see, but many of you will, the United States Government may take control of the railroads of the country. You may smile at my statement, but if you will examine some of the charters that have been given in some of the States you will find that the charter contemplates just this state of affairs as far as the State is concerned. If you for one moment stop and examine the progress which legislation has made step by step towards getting control of the railroads you will find it has but little farther to go before the roads are controlled perfectly thereby.

The railroad is the creature of the State's creation, clothed with great and unusual powers, and as compensation for such creation and for such clothing with such great powers becomes the servant of the public, and the men who invest money therein must expect that the public will control it through the government.

The framers of the constitution of the United States understood this and provided therein that Congress should "control commerce among the States."

Our railroads are being corralled together into great systems, our State Commissioners are so near in control of our roads that they are able, to a certain extent, to dictate in regard to our construction and operation, and now comes the United States with an Interstate Commerce Commission and controls our rates. What more has the government to do but to order the money collected by the railways into the United States Treasury, appoint the employés, and pay dividends to stockholders, in order to take full and perfect possession of the railway lines of the country? Stockholders will as willingly receive their dividends from the general Government as from a Board of Directors, and when the roads are collected into great systems the Government can easily take possession of them and manage them without the least difficulty.

I am aware, gentlemen, that this is not a very popular doctrine at this time, and that perhaps a majority of the people would at present vote "no" on such a proposition; but, nevertheless, time will correct all this and prepare the same individuals to clamor for the governmental control of railroads.

It is natural for us all to find fault with any new thing or proposition for change in our accustomed way of doing things. We have of late heard considerable fault finding with the Interstate Commerce law, but notwithstanding that it has broken up the free pass system and thus destroyed all the sociability of railroading the law will remain on our statute books and the courts will punish offenders. I don't hesitate to say that the law has given you, gentlemen, more work and trouble than it has anybody, still I have never heard a railroad clerk find fault with it.

There have been abuses and favoritism in the matter of transportation of both freight and passengers, and nobody knows it better than the men I see around me; nobody knows better than the gentlemen here assembled that the Interstate commerce law, minus the long and short haul clause, is a good and just law, and should be enforced to the letter. It is a pity that the long and short haul should be incorporated into the law, but we cannot find much fault for it was copied from Massachusetts.

It originated in the brain of our first Chairman of our own State Commission, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, now President of the Union Pacific railroad, a man for whom I have the highest esteem and respect, a man of great ability and strict integrity, and one who I heartily wish could have been Chairman of the Interstate Commission, for I fully believe he would have at once seen that while the long and short haul clause might be safely applied to a local business within a single State it could not be applied to a through business where product comes in competition with product, or where water ways come in competition with railways, without causing obstruction to free commerce between the States. When the present unsettled condition of the transportation business becomes settled in accordance with the new conditions governing them and the long and short haul clause shall have been repealed, everybody will be satisfied with the law and will wonder why it was not proposed before, and then another step will have been gained by the government upon the ladder which leads to the ground upon which railroads are to be put under governmental control."

RUPTURED MEXICO.

Undergoing a General Seismic Convulsion.

VOLCANOES EVERYWHERE.

Letter from Gov. Torres—Tucson Still Rattling With the Shakes.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 8, via Galveston.—The government to-day received its first information regarding the disastrous earthquake on the 3d instant at the town of Bavispe, in the district of Monctezuma, Sonora, by which 150 persons lost their lives. The earthquake occurred at 3:50 P. M. At the same time volcanic eruptions began in the neighboring mountains, lighting up their summits for a long distance. The prediction is made here by local scientists that Mexico is about to undergo a general seismic convulsion, and recent records of earthquakes show that there is a widespread volcanic activity from one end of Mexico to the other.

THE SMOKING VOLCANOES.

LAREDO, Tex., May 8.—Passengers arriving on the Monterey train report that great fires are raging on the summits of the mountains in many places on both sides of the railroad. Whether these fires have any connection with the recent earthquake disturbances in Arizona and New Mexico, is yet to be determined, as the tops of these mountains are almost inaccessible.

LETTER FROM GOV. TORRES.

NOGALES, Ariz., May 8.—The earthquake last Tuesday created a sad havoc in the northeastern portion of Sonora, Mexico. This portion of the State is far from railroad or telegraphic communication. The following despatch was received here to-day from Luis E. Torres, Governor of Sonora:

"Hermosillo, May 8.—The earthquake caused a terrible damage in Moctezuma, destroying several villages; but those in the northeastern part suffered most terribly Oputo and all its houses destroyed, and nine persons were killed. Bavispe was utterly destroyed, one hundred and fifty persons being killed. Houses were leveled to the ground. A new volcano appeared, and its eruption destroyed all the timber and pastures of the adjoining valleys and mountains. Further details are expected hourly.

(Signed) "LUIS E. TORRES."

The volcano mentioned in the dispatch is in the famous Sierra Madre Mountains.

In this place a pretty severe shock of earthquake was felt this morning, at 2 o'clock.

STILL QUAKING.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 8.—From one to two slight shocks of earthquake have been felt for several days, but too slight to cause alarm. There is no doubt but nearly every high mountain in Southern Arizona has, to a greater or less extent, had its topography changed, but as far as can be learned there is no active volcano in them.

NEW YORKERS GO THIRSTY.

New Liquor Selling Act Causes Great Agitation.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The New Yorkers went thirsty to-day. The opinion of the corporation council as rendered last week, announced that restaurants were restrained by law from supplying guests with liquor at meals. This decision carried terror to the average hotel man, who had hitherto felt that the Blue laws would not touch his privileges. Hotel bars were all closed. Beer, wine and other drinks were not sold in any of the hotels. Cards were distributed in all the leading hotels yesterday afternoon, announcing that bars would be closed to-day. This had not the desired effect. The guests, however, laid in a supply of the needful to carry them over the day, and fewer drunken men were seen on the street than on any Sunday for some time.

At the weekly meeting of the Manhattan Temperance Association in Masonic Temple to-day, M. M. (Brick) Pomeroy, spoke of the Sunday blue laws. He thought that the passage of the Carter bill by the Legislature was an outrage. The Cooper Union mass meeting held last night to oppose blue laws is said to have showed the power of the liquor interest, and it needed a check. Mayor Hewett was praised for enforcing the Sunday laws. The German singing societies met again to-day. It was reported that a committee of three had visited Albany and notified the Legislative Committee on Cities that the future political action of the German element depended upon the settlement of the excise troubles in a satisfactory manner. The Carter Bill was said to be the result of the committee's work.

SEWERING SAN LUIS OBISPO.

Col. Waring Making Plans for the City.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 8.—Colonel Waring, who arrived here this morning, has spent the day with the City Trustees and City Engineers inspecting the town with a view to deciding on the most practicable method of sewerage. The City Council will hold a special meeting to-morrow evening, to consider the matter, at which time Colonel Waring will give his views and submit plans.

SCHOONER WRECKED.

Henry Weatherbee's Champion Goes Ashore.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—A dispatch to the Merchants' Exchange states that the schooner Champion, of forty-two tons, which plied between here and Albion, went ashore at the latter place, to-day, and became a total wreck. She was owned by H. Weatherbee, of this city.

Drinking to Death.

AUBURN, Cal., May 8.—F. Diers, lately from San Francisco, was beheaded by a freight train this afternoon. He had been drinking of late and it is believed he suicided.

The Battle of Gettysburg.

The great cyclorama of the battle of Gettysburg is attracting a large attendance day and evening. This great and decisive battle of the late Civil War is well worth visiting. The painting is an excellent one. A full explanation is given every half hour.

BASEBALL.

Los Angeles Defeats Colton—The Game at Santa Monica.

The game yesterday between the Los Angeles and the Colton Athletics, attracted the largest crowd of the season at the Sixth street grounds, the grand stand as well as the sun seats being well packed. It was a noticable feature to see the number of ladies who atsended. It is evident the Colton boys took well with the fair sex of Los Angeles as they were out in full force. For a while it looked as though the Los Angeles boys would meet their first defeat as the boys found it almost impossible to gauge Young's deceptive curves.

Young pitched a fine game and was fairly supported by Lohman. The feature of the visitors' playing was the brilliant playing of Koacher, Hartley and Mathews, Koacher especially distinguishing himself by his stops and quick and accurate throwing his errors all being excusable. Kier at second assisted in some brilliant double plays but showed a lack of practice in ground balls. Kier is known to be one of Southern California's best when in practice. The Athletics intended to have a professional battery and strengthened by them they will be formidable opponents for any nine in Southern California. Too much cannot be said in praise of the Los Angeles boys' playing, particularly the field work of Turner, Clark, Walbridge, Coffman and George. Coffman and Clark especially distingnished themselves, both at the bat and in the field. Walbridge and Turner were the battery for the Los Angeles team, Monroe not playing, on account of the sad news of the death of his mother. Coffman carried off the batting honors for the Los Angeles, and Mitchell and Koacher for the Colton Athletics. Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Los Angeles.....	0	0	5	5	0	2	0	2	0	—14
Colton.....	1	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—3

The Umpire was Solano and the Scorer Stearns.

Next Sunday the Los Angeles nine will cross bats with the Santa Monica team, at the latter place, and a big game is anticipated, as both teams are strong.

AT SANTA MONICA.

The game at the new grounds of D. J. Tobin between the Santa Monicas and Peck & Ruggles' nines was very interesting, and was largely attended. The Santa Monicas defeated the other nine by a score of 10 to 2.

OLD SPANISH MINES.

An Experienced Miner Regards Them With Suspicion.

"I see they have rediscovered those old Spanish mines in Mexico again," said a mining man at the Palace last evening. "Those old abandoned mines of untold wealth are discovered about once every three years, on paper. This seems to be a worse case than usual, however. There is more of it and the wealth down those old shafts seems to be somewhat fabulous. It may be, but I would suggest that those who will be asked to put their money into a scheme to clean out these old mines—which will come next—go down into Sonora and take a look at those old treasure-vaults for themselves. This is only a hint, you know, but sometimes a hint is as good as a kick.

"Certainly," he continued, in response to a query, "I mean to say that I do not believe a word of it. There may be old Spanish mines down there undiscovered, but not in such numbers, nor are they likely to be discovered in any such romantic manner as described, which has the aroma of yellow-backed literature.

"Indeed, it is my impression that the wealth of Mexico as to minerals is greatly exaggerated. Up to now nothing has been developed to warrant a belief in great and immensely rich mines. In all Mexico there is no mine like the Granite Mountain or the Drum Lummon in Montana, the Ontario or the Yankee Boy in Colorado, or the Lake Wallace mines in New Mexico. The prospectors who have worked Mexico have almost invariably returned to this country, and for many years to come they will not find a better field than their own land. There is too much of the romantic about the Mexican mines."—[S. F. Chronicle.

A BURGLAR.

He Takes a Shot at Two Newspaper Men.

At 1:40 o'clock this morning a young man named Stevenson informed special watchman McCullough that a man had entered the Fountain saloon on Spring street through a back window. The officer went to the back door while a HERALD man keen for an item kept watch at the front door. The HERALD man was reinforced shortly by Mr. Stevens, city editor of the Tribune, and it was not long waiting for an item, for in a second the glass of the front door was broken and two pistol shots fired, the bullets of which came uncomfortably close to the heads of the newspaper men. The latter gentlemen left suddenly, as did the burglar. He ran up Franklin street and one of the newspaper men, who in the meantime had borrowed a pistol at the Brunswick saloon, shot at him as he ran, but the burglar did not diminish his Maud S. speed. Officer McCullough and the city officers chased the fellow quite a distance, but he had not been captured at last accounts.

A New Departure.

The Gazette this week takes a departure from its long-time custom which has been contemplated for some time. Its readers will hereafter receive their favorite paper on Thursday of each week, instead of on Saturday. Our large circulation and imperfect press facilities has prevented us for some time from getting the paper to patrons in outside towns before Saturday evening or Sunday, and as postoffices are closed on the Sabbath, it frequently happened that patrons could not get their paper until Monday. Complaints of this kind have been so frequent lately that we have determined to do what we can to remedy the matter.

We are now negotiating for a power press, and when we get one to suit us the Gazette will be enlarged and otherwise improved. We are determined to fully deserve a continuance of the liberal patronage which we have received during the past sixteen years, and to make the pioneer paper of Los Angeles county one worthy of Anaheim.—[Anaheim Gazette.

Successive Colliding of an Ocean Steamship.

FILIBUSTERS IN CUBA.

Honors to America at the Opening of the London Exhibition.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

HAVRE, May 8.—The French steamer Labretague, Capt. Dejousselin from New York, April 30th, arrived here at noon today. She reports that during the night she collided with and sunk a Norwegian bark. The crew of the bark were saved. The steamer Lachampagne, which sailed yesterday morning for New York and which afterward returned, having been in collision, was run into by the steamer Ville de Rio. The later steamer sank, but her crew and passengers were saved. The collision was caused by a panic among the Italians on board the Champagne who made a rush for the life boat, and capsized it, five of them being drowned, in addition to three sailors who had tried to prevent the rush. The steamer Ville de Bordeaux rescued fifteen Italians clinging to the capsized life boat.

The collision took place about noon. The shock was so violent that the Champagne was thrown almost completely over upon her starboard beam. A wide hole two yards long was opened in her starboard side near the poop, just above the water mark, and the captain, finding it impossible to return to port, ran the steamer aground on a bar, and saved all the lives on board.

Filibusters in Cuba.

LONDON, May 8.—Dispatches from Madrid say that rumors are current there that a party of filibusters has landed in Cuba.

HONORS TO AMERICA.

Opening of the American Exhibition at London.

LONDON, May 8.—At the opening of the American exhibition to-morrow the Grenadier band will play American and British National airs, after which Arch Deacon Farrar will offer prayer. Lord Ronald Gower will deliver an address of welcome and Sir Charles Russell will reply. Miss Lillian Nordica will sing The Star Spangled Banner and Rule Brittania.

TURKEY AND SPAIN.

The Porte Asks the Spaniards to Explain.

LONDON, May 8.—A dispatch from Constantinople says the Porte has asked the Spanish Government to explain its action in authorizing the formation of a coaling station on the Red Sea.

ATTACKING THE JEWS.

Outrageous Conduct of Austrian Peasants.

VIENNA, May 8.—A crowd of peasants incited by agitators, to-day attacked the Jewish quarters in a Moravian village. The peasants, who were armed with farm implements, brutally assaulted the Jews. Troops were sent from Prerean and succeeded in quelling the riots.

The Bettner-Holt Libel Suit.

Two years ago, an article criticising the Riverside management at the New Orleans Fair was published in the Press and Horticulturist, to which James Bettner took exceptions. A libel suit was instituted, and before the Superior Court of this county it was adjudged that the language used was not libelous, and the defendant's demurrer was sustained. Plaintiff took the case to the Supreme Court, and, last August, the Lower Court was reversed, and the case was sent back for trial.

After the return of the papers the case was set for trial, but adjourned, on account of the serious illness of Mr. Bettner's son at that time. Pending the present condition of armed neutrality, which may possibly never be broken, the Press takes the opportunity, in justice to Mr. Bettner and all parties concerned, to say that Mr. Bettner and some of his friends entirely misconstrued the intent of the articles as it appeared in this paper, and to which exceptions were taken.

They claimed that the article complained of intended to convey the idea that Mr. Bettner took the fruit from exhibits sent by other Riverside fruit growers and added the same to his own in order that he might make a better display and thus obtain premiums.

The Press never had an idea that such was the case and did not intend that any such inference should be drawn from the statements published.

Whether the suit is again set for trial, or whether it is withdrawn or allowed to drop, we consider that this statement is due to Mr. Bettner and those of his friends who placed a wrong construction on the language used, and we wish to state in this connection that we don't believe that Mr. Bettner ever made any improper use of the fruit committed to his charge.

We also became satisfied, after fully investigating the case, that Messrs. Bettner and Rudisill faithfully carried out all written instsuctions as to entries given by contributors of fruit, and that in the limited time the managers had to get the exhibition in shape at New Orleans, they accomplished all that was possible under the circumstances, as the awards of the leading premiums to Riverside show, and we desire to say that so far as the article in question threw any reflection upon either Mr. Bettner or Mr. Rudisill, it was ill-advised and not borne out by the facts.—[Riverside Press.

A Beet Sugar Mill.

Says the Transcript: In conversation with one of the most prominent citizens of Watsonville we were informed that Claus Spreckles, the sugar man, informed him that if arrangements could be made with our farmers, whereby they would agree and contract with him to put one-half of their bottom land into sugar beets each year, he (Spreckles) would erect a beet sugar mill. We believe this is a chance for our farmers, as there is no doubt but what more money can be made in raising beets than in cereals. Farmers call a meeting and invite Mr. Spreckles to be present and make arrangements for the erection of a sugar factory.

DAILY HERALD.

THE NEW CHARTER.

A Danger to be Avoided in Paving the Streets.

EDITOR HERALD—The matter of paving the streets of Los Angeles involves millions of dollars, as the city is to extend from the Sierra Madres to the sea, the matter of paving the streets for the use of a million people becomes a serious question. The subject will come up to-morrow for the consideration of the City Council. A large number of plans have been proposed for street pavements, but the people should know beforehand what they will have to pay for and what it will cost and how long it will last.

The City Charter gives the Council authority to pave and improve streets but unfortunately Section 19 of page 40 of the Revised Charter of Los Angeles has this peculiar and provoking provision, which says:

"Whenever any street or part thereof has been graded or otherwise improved at the expense of the owners of the real estate fronting thereon, and the same has been accepted by the Council, and the same shall require any repairs to be made thereon at any time, the Council shall order such repairs to be made; any material required in such repairs to be only of the same nature and kind as previously used, and pay the same out of the general fund."

This provision must be annulled or else there can be no improvement hereafter on the pavements that may be adopted by the City Council, except by a general tax, so that the whole people must bear the burden instead of the property holders whose property has been improved.

This most unfortunate condition is full of danger, and can only be avoided by the utmost caution. Plans will be presented to the Council to-morrow for paving Main and Spring streets. These plans must be investigated most profoundly. Should a cheap kind be adopted that would soon wear out, the people of the city would have to replace the same with something better at their own expense.

According to this unfortunate provision, if the city accepts a gravel pavement and a necessity arises for a stone, brick or asphaltum pavement afterwards, the owners of the property benefitted aligning the improvement, are not required to pay for the improvement themselves, but will only pay their share out of the taxes that go into the general fund, while a person two miles away may be more heavily taxed for the improvement than the owner of the property benefited. This condition should cause the utmost caution in ordering the new pavements. They should be of such a material and so made as to be durable in the extreme and not have to be made over in a few months at the expense of the city.

Whether the new pavement is to be brick, stone or asphaltum, it must be thicker than the specimens now put down. Los Angeles will soon be the largest city in California. The travel of the streets is great and the loads of merchandise are heavy and continuous. No pavement of a less depth than eighteen inches can be trusted under the tremendous burden that is daily passing along our business streets. A thin crust of asphaltum will expand at noon and yield under a load of 10,000 pounds. A depth of eighteen inches with a mixture of granite and lime, or sand with asphaltum will last for ages. Los Angeles must be the best paved city in America and our invaluable asphaltum must be combined with our matchless granite and diamond lime that will be nearly indestructible, impervious to water, not expanded by heat and hardly resonant from passing wheels. Such a combination as will shut off the impurities that now arise from the polluted earth and give a smooth, enduring surface that can be cleansed daily, is what the city must have. It is also well to bear in mind that until "Section 19" is annulled, a change of pavement must be made from the funds of the whole people. All these questions should be discussed by the City Council to-morrow. It may be possible that some of the members have not read this peculiar section. The city must be paved and no mistakes made. A cheap thin pavement might be palmed off under this unfortunate section by the holders of local property, and a new and expensive one put in its place at the expense of the people. G.

AMERICAN OPERA.

Season of Music by the National Opera Company.

This celebrated company which is now achieving an unparalleled success in San Francisco, will appear here on Monday night, May 16th, at the Pavilion. The artists of the company have achieved a world-wide reputation. Theodore Thomas, the leader of the orchestra numbering sixty musicians, is known as a man who has done wonders on behalf of musical advancement in this country. The renown of Mmes. Emma Juch, Pauline d'Allemand, Bertha Pierson and Miss Amanda Fabris, soprano, is too well known to need further comment. Mmes. Cornelia Van Zanten, Mathilde Phillipe and Jessie Bartlett-Davis, contraltos and mezzo-sopranos, are deservedly appreciated by lovers of opera. The famous Candidus, Charles Bassett and Wm. Fessenden are the tenors. William Ludwig, the great Santley's favorite pupil, Alonzo Stoddard and Wm. H. Lee, formerly known on the stage as Signor Vansani, are the baritones, and Myron W. Whitney and Wm. H. Hamilton are the bassos. The principal dancers are Teodora de Gillert of Moscow, Marie Ginri, Felicita Carozzi and M. Cammarino, all of Milan. The corps de ballet has been selected in France, Italy and America, and it is safe to say that no such gorgeous spectacle as the ballet will present was ever seen this side of the Rocky mountains. The well selected chorus consists of 100 singers.

The repertoire chosen for Los Angeles is: On Monday night, May 16th, Leo Delibe's "Lakme;" Tuesday, Wagner's "Lohengrin;" Wednesday night, Gounod's "Faust;" Thursday matinee, Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor," and Thursday night, Verdi's incomparable "Aida." The greatest interest has been manifested by appreciative theatregoers in the near approach of the engagement at the Pavilion of the celebrated National Opera Company, and the excitement has manifested itself tangibly at the office of Managers McLain & Lehman, where the sale of seats takes place. The subscription lists closed last night, after a tremendous rush. Single night seats will be on sale from Monday, the 9th, at 10 o'clock, at the office of the managers, McLain & Lehman. The able managers of the National Opera Company have made all the necessary arrangements with the railroad companies for excursion trains from the surrounding towns, and it will be just as easy for people residing in the country to be present at these extraordinary and splendid performances and return home after the conclusion of each one, as it will be to people residing in the city of Los Angeles.

STRAY GIRLS' HOME.

A Card from Mrs. Watson on the Subject.

LOS ANGELES, May 8, 1887.

EDITOR HERALD—Having received numerous inquiries in regard to the Stray Girls' Home, as it is called, if you will allow this explanation a place in the columns of your paper you will greatly oblige.

The home we are about to establish, especially for young girls, will be an unsectarian Christian home, intended to reach all classes that need help—those who are penniless and friendless and need assistance; the refractory and unmanageable that will be committed from the courts, giving us legal power to hold them under restraint until we can bind them with the cords of love to a better life; also a class of young girls that to-day are unwilling prisoners in our houses of ill-fame, asking God to help them break the chains that bind them, and yet as they look out on this beautiful earth "no hope" is written over everything. The citizens of Southern California, who by their generous contributions have said such a home shall be established here, will rear a monument that shall reach from earth to heaven. The first round of the ladder will be: 'Go and sin no more;" the last one: "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you."

INSECTICIDE.

We beg to call your attention to an article we are manufacturing for the purpose of eradicating and destroying the Scale Bug, Harvest Flies, Tree Hoppers, Plant Lice, Etc.

It has been fully tested by the Agricultural Department of the State University, and pronounced a success, the endorsement of which we append. It is put up in convenient forms for use. The chemicals employed in same will not hurt the most tender bush, as has been fully demonstrated. It is put up in liquid form ready for use in barrels and 5-gallon cans, and in paste form in 2 and 5-lb. cans and barrels, which must be diluted before using; therefore, we recommend the liquid form as being the best for use.

[Copy of letter received from the University of California, College of Agriculture, Berkeley, dated Dec. 4th, 1886.]

J. N. Knowles, Esq., Manager Arctic Oil Works, San Francisco:

Dear Sir—We have lately tested the insecticide preparation of Whale Oil Soap sent by you to us, and have found it to be very effectual against the Scale infesting Orange and Bay Trees; also against the Thrips. From our previous experience with a similar composition, I think it will be found fully effectual against any small Insect Pests not specially protected like some of the armored Scales, and against which any Wash short of strong lye cannot be used. Respectfully, E. W. HILGARD, Professor State University.

We ask you to give this preparation a thorough test, feeling confident that it will do all we claim for it. It will cost but a small amount to save your fruit trees and flower plants from the deadly insect. Give it a trial and be convinced. Yours truly,

CONCERNING

THE BEAUTIFUL.

There is enough of true merit in the superb climate of Southern California, enough to praise in the magnificent scenery, and the remarkable fertility of the soil to make it quite unnecessary to resort to foolish expressions or misstatements of any character.

CLAREMONT THE BEAUTIFUL

New town on the Santa Fé Route, midway between San Bernardino and Los Angeles, possesses all the requirements to make it the leading suburb of Los Angeles, the mountain home, the place of rest, the sanitarium. Why? This can be answered in person by you in a day or two, for the trains will soon be running past its sunny hills. Look carefully at all the new towns, and then examine the peculiar attractions of

CLAREMONT.

Located at the foot of the picturesque San Antonio Cañon, it monopolizes the only good view of that grandest of our mountain peaks—"Old Baldy." The pure water, the inviting pools teeming with brook trout can only be reached easily from Claremont.

Below us some 400 feet is Pomona, nestled in a valley as lovely as that of Cashmere, and as fruitful as that of Egypt.

The panorama from

CLAREMONT

Is not equalled in California. Our water supply is the very best. We are the very center of the great artesian belt. The Claremont Water Company pipe us water under 100 feet pressure.

Our soil is the most productive in California. Mortal eye never looked upon roses, strawberries, apricots, peaches, plums oranges or lemons, more perfect than those of Claremont.

We are authorized to state that

COMMUTATION TICKETS

Will be sold to Claremont residents at very low rates, at once upon the opening of the railroad. This week

"THE MANCHESTER,"

An exquisite hotel, will be begun. The most picturesque cottage on the line is now building; a Bank building contracted for. The railroad company will make their depot grounds a Park. The depot will be an artistic building, calculated to please the class of residents that are sure to make

Claremont

Their home. The Pacific Land Improvement Company take pride in Claremont as their first town.

The street grading and general improvements are going on rapidly.

Visit the property. Make an investmen that will pay you 100 per cent in a few months.

Grand Excursion and Auction Sale of the Meadow Park Colony,

ADJOINING THE NEW TOWNSITE OF WALTERIA,

TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1887.

A SPECIAL TRAIN has been chartered for the round trip, leaving Los Angeles, Commercial-Street Depot, at 8:30 A. M., arriving at Wilmington at 9:30 A. M., where conveyance will be furnished for all to the grounds, and to a fine lunch. Sale of property to commence at 11 o'clock sharp. Meadow Park, containing over 700 acres, has been subdivided and platted in tracts of 5, 10 and 20 acres each, a part of which has already been sold, making this one of the finest opportunities for those seeking homes in the beautiful valleys of Southern California. On Meadow Park there are 10,000 healthy, growing fruit trees; the soil is fertile and easy cultivated; needs no irrigation; water can be had in abundance at from 20 to 30 feet. At the same time about 300 residence and business lots will be sold in the beautiful townsite of Walteria, where the contract for the building of a large hotel is already let, which will be pushed to a speedy completion. Grounds have been reserved for railroads. Right of way granted connecting with Wilmington and San Pedro. Lumber yards will be established where lumber can be sold at Los Angeles prices. Walteria must be seen to be appreciated. The scenery is beautiful beyond description; the climate is unsurpassed. Remember the day and date, TUESDAY, May 10, 1887.

Terms—Ten per cent. at fall of hammer, balance of one-third in 60 days; one-third due January 1, 1888, one-third due January 1, 1889; 8 per cent. on deferred payments; 5 per cent. discount for cash within 10 days. For further information, catalogues, etc., call on or address A. R. WALTERS, Wilmington, Cal., or MATLOCK, NEWTON & MATLOCK, Auctioneers, 111 West First street, Los Angeles.

☞ ROUND TRIP TICKETS, 75 cents; can be had at Commercial-Street Depot, or of the auctioneers, 111 First street. ap30-11t

HYDE PARK!

LOOK WHERE YOU WILL IN THE VICINITY OF THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES IN search either of lots or acre property for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La Balloua, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city; a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal sized lots, 60x189 feet, fronting on 60-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $100 each; $40 cash; balance $10 per month without interest. Such terms give the present purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 P. M. to show parties the beautiful property.

New Domestic Lime.

The Los Angeles Storage, Commission and Lumber Company, San Pedro street, near Third, have the agency of the "Summit Lime Company," of Tehachepi, for the manufacture of lime. They guarantee it of the best quality, it being manufactured by the H. T. Holmes' Lime Company, of Santa Cruz, one of the oldest manufactories in the State, whose name alone is a guarantee of the quality of the lime manufactured by them.

In their New Quarters.

Crandall, Crow & Co. are now at 133 and 135 West First street, with full line of stoves, mantels and grates.

Why Use Poisonous Face Powders

Freeman's medicated invisible powder is guarenteed perfectly harmless, free from any injurous substance. The proprietor will give $500 if any lead, arsenic or mercury can be found in it.

They Never Fail.

California's scenery cannot be surpassed in the world, with her beautiful evergreen valleys and her continuous snow-capped mountains. Abietene is produced on one of the mountains that intervene between the two. It has been demonstrated beyond the possibility of doubt that Abietene has great medicinal properties, both as an external and internal remedy, and we also claim we have in ABIETENE COUGH BALSAM, ABIETENE OINTMENT, FRYER'S ABIETENE and Abietene and Yerba Santa Cough Candy, remedies that never fail. See circular with each remedy. Sold by C. F. Heinzeman.

Now Has Faith.

I had been troubled all winter with cold and pain in the chest and got no relief from remedies recommended by druggists and physicians. At the same time I was advertising Dr. Bosanko's cough and lung syrup. I had little faith, but thought to try it as a last resort, now I believe even more than they tell me of its curative qualities.—From the News, Elizabethtown, Ky. Sample bottle 5 cents at C. F Heinzeman's.

Better Accommodations.

More Pullman palace cars are now arriving via the Santa Fe route, which are to be used between Los Angeles and Kansas City to accommodate the increased travel east bound. This company is also running daily emigrant tourist cars direct from Los Angeles to Kansas City.

Beauty and Influence.

A wife, mother or daughter should strive to be beautiful, for it increases her power for good, yet many impose upon us a rough, sallow and repulsive complexion, when a single application of Cameline will remove all defects. Cameline, white or pink, price fifty cents.

The Latest and Greatest Discovery.

DR. J. DE PRATIS HAMBURG FIGS.—A crystallized fruit cathartic. A discovery of the greatest interest to the Medical Profession. A boon to every household. A most delicious laxative or purgative prepared from fruit and vegetables. So perfectly harmless that they may be administered with entire safety to an infant. So efficacious to adults that a single dose will prove their value, and so elegant a preparation that it needs only to be presented to the public to become a necessity in every household throughout the land. For liver complaints, habitual constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and piles, they are a specific. To travelers by sea and land they will be found invaluable; they are positively unfailing in their action, and this is the only medicine ever offered to the public that is accepta, ble to the taste, and so pleasant that children will eat the figs as eagerly as candy. For sale by every Druggist throughout the world. Price, 25 cents a box. J. J. Mack & Co., Prop's., 9 and 11 Front street, San Francisco, Cal.

Removal.

On the 1st of May I will remove my real estate office from No. 1 Market street to 316 North Main street (nearly opposite Post-office). Will buy and sell lands and lots of every description, negotiate loans, etc., etc. Any business placed in my hands will receive prompt and careful attention. Call and see me. W. A. JOHNSON

A Good Nurse

Should not hesitate to wait upon those ill with such diseases as smallpox, Cholera or Scarlet Fever. There is little to be feared by persons waiting on the sick if they will use Darby's Prophylactic Fluid freely. A Libel Suit and a Retrospect.

There is something amusing as well as peculiar in the libel suit of the proprietors of the San Francisco Bulletin against the proprietor of the Chronicle in that city. Its distinctive peculiarity—one which is not often met with in the rather phenomenal features of daily newspapering in this work-a-day world—is that it is pressed some ten years after it was first brought. Generally a decade is a time sufficiently long to admit of the burial of enmities begotten of passing controversies. A celebrated English statesman once said that politicians should so regulate their conduct as if the enemies of to-day might be the friends of to-morrow, and the friends of to-day the enemies of to-morrow. The actual intercourse of sagacious journalists is usually based upon this aphorism evolved from the mind of a keen observer. Their hostilities, while often embittered, are rarely of an enduring cast. The first Napoleon, as he drove through Prussia with the Duke de Calaincourt by his side, in a sledge drawn by fast horses, remarked to his companion, "These Prussians will be debating to-morrow whether they ought not to have arrested me yesterday." Lately the Messrs. Fitch & Pickering have awakened to the belief that they ought to have prosecuted a libel suit against the Chronicle ten years ago and they are doing it now. They have not only violated the counsel of Christ not to allow the sun to go down on their wrath, but they bring up the old animosity fresh and smiling after it had been supposed to have been thrown, to employ a Shakspearean phrase, "as an alms of oblivion into the wallet of time."

The amusing feature of this venerable libel suit is the ever fresh and lively animosity shown to Messrs. Fitch & Pickering by their brethren of the press. They look around in vain for sympathy amongst their fellows of the San Francisco guild. Not only are the dailies of the metropolis loaded with epigrams and stinging paragraphs against these Nestors of the press of the Golden Gate, but this caustic spirit ramifies into the weeklies. One would suppose, from the general tenor of comment, that two well known criminals had been run to earth, and that a great public benefit would accrue from their extirpation. This gracious tone of their rivals proves at least one thing, viz: that the Call and Bulletin are still very prosperous journals. Your newspaper man, no more than your sportsman, ever wastes his ammunition on "dead ducks." There may be great ground to question the wisdom of the revival of this antique libel suit, on the principal that it is not well to launch a boomerang, but the great interest taken in the Messrs. Fitch and Pickering shows that they are still not without significance in the affairs of San Francisco, and that their twin-journals, the Call and Bulletin, are yet rated as powers in the land.

There is an instructive retrospect embodied in the evidence brought out in this trial. Fifteen years ago the Central Pacific Railway made very determined efforts to acquire Goat Island, as a San Francisco terminus for their transcontinental railway. There might be many and substantial reasons why California at large and the people of the United States should object to this surrender, but, on the other hand, there were abundant reasons why the inhabitants of San Francisco should gladly second any efforts in Congress made for its acquisition. If the Central Pacific Railway had been successful in its attempt, the depot and wharves of that corporation would have been located in San Francisco instead of in Oakland. As a result, there would to-day be millions of assessment valuations in the City and County of San Francisco which now figure in the tax levies of the city across the bay. What ill effect would have followed to the people of the Golden Gate by this addition to their assessment rolls it is at this distance very hard to see. And yet the utmost efforts of the Call and Bulletin were devoted to defeating a movement which would unquestionably have increased the population and wealth of their city—Goat Island being within the municipal jurisdiction of the city and county of San Francisco—and in building up Oakland. The facts, in the light of developments, show how very much mistaken very wise journalists may occasionally be.

A Great Musical Treat.

The National Opera Company, which will open in Los Angeles next week, is an organization of exceptional merit. It not only surpasses anything of the kind that has ever hitherto appeared in this city, but it is far ahead of anything that has ever performed west of the Rocky Mountains. Heretofore, even in San Francisco, they have been content with a few great artists. A famous soprano, contralto, tenor and baritone, with a chorus composed of the rag, tag and bobtail picked up by the impresario in the localities where he performed, was all that the Californians have known in the past in their own State. Opera, in the European sense of the word, they have never had. The vicious system of depending for success on stars has thoroughly permeated the operatic as well as the dramatic stage. In the National Opera Company this is all changed. Its personnel embraces fully three hundred and fifty-five artists, for even the humblest member of the combination deserves this term. The soprani, contralti, tenori and the other principal singers are all of a high grade, although none of them possess the standing of a Mario, a Santley, Patti or Gerster. They are all conscientious and trained artists, and the chorus, for extent, perfection of drill and effective singing, both male and female, has never been approached in any rendition of opera in the United States. They give to the operas presented by this combination a finish and rounded symmetry never heretofore achieved anywhere in this country, not even in New York. As to the orchestra, it is only necessary to mention the fact that Theodore Thomas is its director to assure the public of a notable treat. With superb and unlimited scenic properties, and the masterly directing genius of Seymour Locke, it involves no exaggeration of phrase to assure the people of Los Angeles that an unexsampled musical experience is in store for them. This young Pasadena impresario—many of our readers may not know that Mr. Locke hails from this county—has scored an unprecedented artistic success and, it is to be heartily hoped, it will turn out as complete a pecuniary one as well. This city covered itself with honor by the generosity and spontaniety of its receptions of Patti and Booth—being no whit behind the metropolis as to both. Let us hope that our record will be equally good in the case of the National Opera Company.

ONE of the most callow and offensive practices of the press of San Francisco is to dub every Englishman who has any kind of a handle to his name a lord or nobleman. This piece of downright ignorance is not confined to any one journal, but pervades all the dailies alike. If some English Knight or Baronet comes along an interview is at once sought with this so-called "nobleman," and the most ridiculous blunders are invariably made. The latest instance of this kind was in the case of one W. E. Manning, a pretended nephew of Cardinal Manning, who was feted in San Francisco society and heralded in the press as "Lord" Manning. Cardinal Manning is in no sense a "lord" in England, and has not even the suggestion of a peerage about him. His official designation is that of a Prince of the Holy Roman Catholic Church, with the title of "Eminence" according to the usages of the Roman Curia and Catholic countries. His relatives are all plain commoners. In the English nobility Knights and Baronets cut no figure, and Sir John Noddy sits only in the House of Commons if he can get there, and never in the House of Lords. In the English peerage the gradations run Baron, Viscount, Earl, Marquis and Duke, and no others are noblemen, with the exception that by courtesy the eldest sons of the higher grades of nobility take titles, as, for instance, Lord Hartington, who is the son of a Duke and who sits in the House of Commons, as did the present Earl of Derby, who was for years known as Lord Stanley—the son of the famous "scorpion Stanley" of O'Connell's invective. It seems passing strange that the conductors of the leading San Francisco dailies have not familiarized themselves with these facts—which are elementary in all that relates to the British peerage—but the ignorance of the whole lot in this regard is simply Bœotian.

THE Pacific Coast has for a long time been quite abstinent of earthquakes, but Arizona, New Mexico and Sonora seem to have manifested a vicious disposition to undermine this flattering record. Since 1868 and 1872 this State has maintained an excellent reputation in the seismic line. In the former year there was a lively scare in San Francisco, and if the shocks had lasted much longer half the occupants of the hotels would have precipitated themselves to death. As it was, only a few lives were lost. In the Spring of 1872 the principal center of disturbance was in Mono and Inyo counties, queer freaks of disruptions of the earth, attended with the disappearance of men and horses, being recorded of both. There have been no very disastrous earthquakes in California, the most fatal having occurred at San Juan Capistrano during the war of the United States and Great Britain at the opening of the century. The loss of life was owing to the fact that it occurred on a Sunday while the inhabitants were worshiping in the mission church. The picturesque ruins of this edifice are to-day one of the most interesting sights on the Pacific Coast. Looked at on a bright moonlight night from the hill which interposes between San Juan and the sea they are indescribably beautiful, and vie in scenic interest with almost any ruins which can be seen in Italy or Greece. The earthquakes recorded in Southern California since the American occupation have been of a really trivial character, although, in the minds of nearly all men born of woman a superstitious horror seems to attend the dread temblor.

WHILE every leading town in California is just now diligently engaged in holding forth its attractions to the strangers within its gates, and, what is better, is doing its utmost to enhance them, Los Angeles ought not to lag in the rear. Our street-sprinkling system is grossly insufficient, while the work of removing filth and garbage is done in such a bungling manner as to offend the nostrils and endanger the health of our people. We are obliged to submit to the preposterous practice of having the refuse of our streets emptied into carts in broad day, with the result that the passer by is almost suffocated. This nuisance should be done away with at once. It would not be tolerated in a forty-third rate frontier village. Water, for sprinkling purposes, is abundant, and the the system should instantly be made to conform to our needs, while the work of cleaning the streets ought to be carried on at hours which will not make life a burden to pedestrians.

MAJOR BEN C. TRUMAN has left on a trip to the East and to Europe in the service of the Southern and Central Pacific Railways. His expedition is really in the interest of advertising this section; the companies he represents realizing the importance of attracting immigration to a comparatively undeveloped land, illimitably rich in possibilities. He will issue a number of publications devoted to California, and they will be illustrated by the best artistic talent of New York and London.

UNREMITTING official labor is said to have had its effect on our excellent Governor, and he is about to hie him to Highland Springs as a panacea for his ills. If he had known what an effect the climate of Sacramento would have on his naturally robust constitution he doubtless would have declined to run. Still, by sandwiching two or three health resorts into the summer season, he will probably pull through.

Burbank.

Owing to the large sales and great demand the price of lots in Burbank will soon be advanced again, as the buildings, improvements and location justifies double the present prices, which are still lower than any surrounding towns of not half the advantages or importance as a suburban foothill home to Los Angeles. Its commanding view, on the through line of railroad, only fifteen minutes' ride, is second to none in Lower California.

Tickets now on sale at the Southern Pacific Ticket Office, 202 North Main Street, Los Angeles, Commercial Street Depot Ticket Office, Los Angeles; Depot Ticket Office, Los Angeles; and at stations above named.

Special Train Leaves Commercial-St. Depot at 8.30 a.m. on Wednesday, May 11, to return same day about 4 p.m.

The plot immediately south of the Pacific Railway at Ontario, so long desired for town purposes, has at length been secured, subdivided into lots, and is now placed upon the market. There is just being finished on this property a magnificent Bank Block, costing $70,000, and the "Ontario National Bank" will commence business therein in the course of a few weeks. Three brick, plate-glass-fronted stores are also about ready for occupancy, and the contracts are let for a number of others.

A large Planing Mill and Sash Factory is in course of erection, and machinery costing $15,000 is ready to be moved in. To this mill be attached an extensive Lumber Yard, with private siding.

No lots except those occupied by the buildings named and other brick block now under contract have been sold, and none will be before the day of sale.

This is the best opportunity for investment yet offered, as immediately upon the close of sale PRICES WILL BE DOUBLED.

The Southern Pacific Railway runs through this plot, and a splendid new Passenger and Freight Depot has been erected.

The "Ontario Hotel," with its beautiful grounds—a $35,000 property—adjoins the plot, and the far-famed Euclid Avenue, 200 feet wide, runs through the center of it. Arrangements for continuing this avenue through to Rincon are now under way.

The Steel Rails for an Electric Railway to the mountains, and cast-iron pipes for an efficient Water System are now on the ground.

Prices have been placed very low, and large profits on small investments are assured.

North half of Blocks 66, 67, 68 and 69 will be sold with building conditions; purchasers to erect brick buildings, costing not less than $2,000, within six months. No building conditions on other lots.

Lots 7 to 12 and 19 to 24, in Blocks 64, 71, 72, 79, 80, 87, 88, 89, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 101, 102 and 103, $100 each; corners $25 extra.

Lots 7 to 12 and 19 to 24, in Blocks 70, 73, 74, 77, 78, 81, 86, 90 93, and the south half of Blocks 65, 66 and 69, $150 each; $25 extra for corners.

Lots 7 to 12 and 19 to 24, in Blocks 75, 76, 82, 85, 91, 92, 99 and 100, and the south half of blocks 67 and 68, $200 each; $50 extra for corners.

Lots 1 to 6 and 13 to 18 in above-named blocks will be open for sale one week later at double the above prices.

TERMS: Ten per cent. deposit at time of sale, and sufficient to make one-third in thirty days; balance in 6 and 12 months at 8 per cent.

The right is reserved of allotting any two lots in any of above blocks previous to day of sale, for immediate improvements

Remember that this is not a paper town. Improvements that the other new towns expect to have in the course of years are here now. The settlement is here to support business, and brick blocks are going up to accommodate it. The radius of country tributary to South Ontario is large and thickly settled by a well-to-do and prosperous people, such as will amply support a large and thriving town.

Dwellings are already promised for all parts of the tract as soon as the lots can be obtained, and provision for a fine Presbyterian church has been made.

To enlarge upon the marvelous beauties and productiveness of Ontario would be a work of supererorogation, so well is the model colony known—not only in California, but throughout the entire Union. Euclid avenue, which runs through the center of the tract now offered for sale, is admittedly the most famous avenue, not only in America, but in the world.

This is no new town, in a raw and unsettled district, but is adjoining some of the finest improvements in the valley, and is to be the Business Town of the "Model Colony" of the world.

OPINIONS OF ONTARIO, FROM PROMINENT PUBLIC MEN AND WELL-KNOWN NEWSPAPERS:

"Ontario, the beautiful and altogether lovely—this Eden of beauty."—[Hardy (Nebraska) Herald.

"During the past winter I spent three months in traveling over Southern California and I have no hesitation in saying that Ontario is the most desirable, the most beautiful and the most promising colony that I visited in all my travels."—[Senator Easley, of Auburn, Indiana.

"Better water privileges or better land cannot be found in California."—[Montreal Witness.

"With an unsurpassed location, with excellent educational facilities, with ten passenger trains a day, and with whisky absolutely ruled out, it is entitled to be called the model colony of the world."—Rev. Dr. Compton, Colusa, Cal.

"Ontario, I believe, has no equal as a health resort."—[Dr. C. R. Sykes.

"Ontario is, without a doubt, the best planned, the most progressive and promising settlement in Southern California."—[University Catalogue.

"Of all her cities and towns, San Bernardino has the most reason to be proud of Ontario."—[San Bernardino Courier.

"Ontario will undoubtedly be able to keep its place at the head of the class."—[Rural Californian.

"Ontario must constantly increase in importance."—[Los Angeles Herald.

"Ontario's star is in the ascendant, and it promises to rise higher and shine brighter as the years go by."—[Weekly Record.

"Ontario is the prettiest among the many beautiful gems of San Bernardino valley.

"Wherever the Golden State has been heard of, there the fame of Ontario, the model colony, has penetrated."

"All admit that Euclid avenue is without a peer, either in this country or any other, and will, in a very short time, be the most celebrated driveway in the world."

"Ontario is marching along from its own inherent worth, simply because it is what it is—one of the most beautiful, productive and prosperous places in this semi-tropic land."

"Ontario has made a greater relative growth in population and improvements the past year than any other town in San Bernardino county."—[Los Angeles Express.

"From the north the snow-capped peak of San Antonio looks down upon this Elysian retreat."

"The water here supplied for domestic use is pure, clear and sparkling, and brought from the cool grottoes of the snow-clad mountains."

"California can produce no finer raisins than those that were grown and cured at Ontario last season."

"With the aid of its equable temperature and the abundance of water, its rich soil produces superior oranges, lemons, grapes and semitropical fruits of all kinds."—Los Angeles Herald.

"For health, comfort, enjoyment and profit in citrus culture combined, Ontario, the gem of the mountains, is without a peer."

"Ontario is undoubtedly at the present time one of the very best points in the entire State for investments."

"Her attractions are such as draw with irresistible force, the moral, the intelligent, the educated and the refined."—Los Angeles Times.

"Ontario is as pretty as a picture."

"A park of eight or ten acres, with handsome walks and drives, cypress hedges, trees and flowers and fountains, is the first thing one sees when he steps off the train."

"The town has an exceptionally bright future."

"An electric railway is to be built at once from the Southern Pacific depot to the San Antonio Heights. The superb water pressure affords cheap motive power for the electric railway, and electric lights throughout the colony will come along with the railway, the arc for streets, and the incandescent for indoor lights."

"This favored and model—in fact, ideal colony."

"Here, at Ontario, then, we find on this New Year's day, 1887, a settlement of cultured and intelligent people with a college, schools, public libraries and churches, but no saloons; a settlement which is rapidly growing, and in which $100,000 was expended in building last year; a settlement which has passed beyond the experimental stage, and is now an assured success.—[Los Angeles Tribune.

ELECTRIC ROAD.

"The rails have arrived for the electric road, and are being unloaded."—[Ontario Record, April 20th.

"The water at Ontario is shown by chemical analysis to be absolutely pure, and it is as abundant in quantity as it is pure in quality.

"It is no boast to say that as a health resort, Ontario bears off the palm against any section of the American continent whatsoever.

"The most beautiful, productive and healthy spot in the most sightly and fertile valley in the State."—[Rural Californian.

"Having been absent from this charming place for the space of six months, we were anxious to see how it looked under the pressure of a full-sized boom. It is behaving splendidly. The rushing Santa Fe has aded a mighty impetus to the on-rolling tide of prosperity. We came away very sad that we had not secured a little of that rich and mellow soil."—[Southern California Christian Advocate.

WATER PIPE.

Two car-loads of cast-iron pipe have arrived, and fifteen more are on the way from St. Louis. This is designed by the Land Company for San Antonio Heights and for the town below the Southern Pacific. The pipe is of the best and heaviest character, ranging in size from six to twelve inches, and has all been tested to 500 pounds pressure. The first shipment will make about four miles. The company has also enteen cars more of wrought-iron pipe ordered—3, 4, and 5-inch; this is for the smaller lines. We believe this is the largest shipment of pipe yet made from the East to any point in Southern California outside of Los Angeles, and indicates that Ontario is at the front in all improvement.—[Ontario Record, April 20,

The Song of the Headlight.

the full moon lays a radiant haze earth to heaven's wall, tranquil stars mark the viewless bars
the arrows of vision fall—my glance where the quick drops dance the pattering call of the rain their comrades asleep in the hidden deep the subterranean main.
storms are out and the free winds shout
fitful falls and swells, glow of light I throw my gleaming parallels.

the train o'er the level plain moving star,
bend and swerve where the mountains curve iron-bound path to bar.
rocky steeps the fleet flame leaps, flash in their depths below
mosses that dress each dim recess
the nodding ferns I show;
to illume the frowning gloom
precipices gray,
waters smile from the deep defile,
my momentary day.

the wood benign, with beck and sign all timid things shelter spread for the crouching head, its covert for drooping wings,
my light, till in vain affright
doe with her trembling fawn, the creatures meek that refuge seek the forest shade withdrawn, closer yet to the copse dew-wet,
speed through the whispering grass, them away from the searching ray shoot through the dark as I pass.

meteor flies in star-set skies myriad of moveless spheres, along where the lamp-lights throng
the sleeping town appears;
the coming of Fate, to those who wait
I bear their loved away,
as I shine down the widening line,
I pause for a moment's stay;
he who feels those rolling wheels home, to his heart's desire, half believe his eyes perceive prophet's chariot of fire.

on and on till the night is gone
follow the vibrant rails, the east is red, and overhead star of the morning pales;
may fear the soldier's spear,
comrades have no dread,
lances of light I hurled at the night
pierce not where sunbeams spread,
I cease my rays when the heaven ablaze proclaims the darkness fled.

OUR PRETTY CLIENT.

BY J. C.

I had just taken possession of the best room in Digg's tavern—I was a young lawyer on my first circuit, and Digg kept his best accommodations for the old stagers—when the words, "I say, Bill," and Tom Mansfield burst upon me at the same instant.

Tom and I had been cronies from the time we had committed our first juvenile trespass on Deacon Boxley's watermelon patch, till we afterward studied the action of that name together in Judge Thompson's office.

"I say, Bill, I've got a case, and want your assistance in it."

"Ah!" said I in a consulting tone.

"A will case," he continued, "full of the nicest kind of points, and the prettiest woman in the world for a client."

"What about fees?" I enquired by way of keeping up professional appearance.

"Hear the mercenary wretch?" he exclaimed. "If we succeed there'll be plenty of money; if we don't it will be a noble cause to fail in."

"That's what they said of the dashing young chap that broke his neck trying to make two-forty time with the chariot of the sun, but it didn't mend his neck."

"Confound your mythology; business is business. Let me state the case."

"Well, state away."

This was it:

John Andrews had settled in the country when it was young. He had grown with its growth, and was the proprietor of half a dozen farms and "one fair daughter, the which he loved passing well."

His wife, the partner of the earliest and severest portion of his struggles, had died many years before, and his daughter had become the mistress of his house while yet a child.

As Effie increased in years her father prospered, and when, at length, he found himself the possessor of wealth, the ambition, so common under such circumstances, of elevating his daughter to a station in life above that in which she had been reared became a ruling passion. The first thing was to buy her a splendid education, and, like other not over good judges of the article, he was governed in his choice more by the gaudiness of the coloring than by the quality of the texture.

At the end of the usual period Effie was sent home "finished,"—that is, in every respect in which she could be, totally spoiled. In one thing only she remained the same: her love for her father had defied the power even of fashionable education.

A house was purchased in town, of which Effie was made the mistress, and at which Mr. Belden, a young gentleman of city antecedents, and far too nice to have anything so vulgar as a visible calling, became a frequent and not unwelcome visitor. He had just brains enough to think of providing for the future by a scheme, of which Miss Andrews and her appurtenances constituted the central feature. Accordingly he sighed and lied, and fawned and flattered, till Effie's foolish little heart relented.

But one difficulty remained to be encountered. How to conciliate the rough old woodsman—there was the rub. He had permitted his daughter to amuse herself with the young dandy, much as he would have allowed her to play with a monkey or a poodle. But could he have brought himself to tolerate the idea of her marrying anybody yet awhile—for the possibility of such a remote future contingency may have occasionally suggested itself—Horace Belden was about the last person on earth in connection with whom it would have been entertained.

When that gentleman, therefore, reported at headquarters and implored the paternal sanction of his suit, he received no such thing; "on the contrary, quite the reverse." Indeed, he only escaped being kicked out of doors by a speedy voluntary departure.

When Effie tried to talk her father over, for the first time in his life, he flew in a passion with her and she dared not renew the subject.

But Love, the little pagan, pays no respect to the fifth commandment. The officious interference of parents and guardians only renders him the more impatient and unruly; and the present instance was no exception. Clandestine interviews were arranged; accidental meetings took place at the houses of mutual friends; till the whole ended in the gentleman proposing an elopement.

Effie, after protesting she couldn't possibly think of such a thing, and after many vain attempts to conjecture what people would say, at last, with graceful reluctancy, consented.

Rage, frenzy, despair are weak words to describe the emotions of John Andrews when he found his house had been robbed of its chiefest treasure. His first impulse was pursuit. It was night when he set out, accompanied by a trusty Scotchman, long in his employ and confidence. As the two galloped along, Mr. Andrews' horse stumbled, precipitating his rider to the ground and falling heavily upon him. He was taken up insensible and carried to the nearest house. A physician was called, who pronounced the injuries of a most serious, if not necessarily fatal character. As soon as consciousness returned he despatched a messenger for a nephew of his, a lawyer of not very good repute, living in a neighboring town.

When Mr. Jackson, the nephew, arrived, he was left alone with his uncle, at the latter's request. At the end of an hour the doctor was summoned, and requested by Mr. Andrews to note his signature to a paper, to which he then affixed his name, declaring it to be his will, and asking the doctor to subscribe it as a witness, which was done.

On his nephew's suggestion that another witness was requisite, Mr. Andrews named MacPherson, the Scotchman, and requested the doctor to send him in.

MacPherson, it seems, had been sent on some errand; but as soon as he returned the doctor communicated Mr. Andrews' message, and went himself to attend a sick call in the neighborhood, not deeming his presence there immediately necessary.

When he came back he was astonished to find his patient dead. Such a result had not, indeed, been anticipated, but its suddenness took him by surprise.

By Mr. Andrews' will, which was published some days after his death, the entirety of his property was devised to his nephew, who had attended him in his last moments. Everything was in due form. True, MacPherson, one of the witnesses, pursuant to a previous intention, had sailed for Scotland shortly after the funeral, and was not present before the Judge of Probate. But his handwriting was proved, and the evidence of the remaining witness was quite satisfactory. He had seen the testator append his signature, and heard him declare that the paper was his will, and was positive that at the time he was of sound mind and memory.

Poor Effie's grief when she received the intelligence of her father's death was found to be deepened by the news of her own disinherison.

Under all the circumstances, one would have thought that the young husband would have been unremitting in tenderness and sympathy toward his sorrowing bride, who had sacrificed so much for his sake. And so he would, had he devotedly loved her, but he did not.

The fact is, his whole heart and soul and mind were occupied with a previous attachment—not for another: the farthest possible from that—its object was himself. This affection, which was of the most ardent description, had met with a blighting disappointment in his wife's loss of fortune; and with her unceasidg grief and continual self-accusation—she offered no reproaches to him—he had but little patience, and soon gave her to understand as much. The men who, a month before, would have been ready so put on mourning had she lost her favorite canary, turned his back upon her in her real affliction.

When at length he was found dead in his bed one morning, after a night of carousal, the coroner's jury said it was "the act of God"—his blessing, you will call it.

Effie's cousin, instead of making any provision for her whose rights he had most unrighteously supplanted, left her wholly dependent on others, and had she not found a home in the house of an old and tried friend of her father, she might have gone forth a shelterless wanderer.

Tom Mansfield, who had casually made the acquaintance of the young widow, became warmly interested in her cause, and guided, probably, more by sympathy than judgment, had commenced an action to contest the will made under the circumstances just related.

And this was the case in which he wished my assistance.

We sat up nearly all night in consultation. There was a point that we both thought a "beautiful" one, and we devoted our principal efforts to strengthening it.

Ours was the first cause on in the morning. Arrayed against us were three of the oldest and ablest practicioners of the circuit. Jackson had plenty of money now, and was himself no fool in "putting up" a case.

I felt not a little nervous. It was my first case of any importance. I, too, as well as John Andrews' will, was about to be placed on trial.

My courage revived a little when our client came in, escorted by Tom, who introduced me as his associate. Pretty as a pink, as she sat facing the jury, where Tom had placed her, I felt that our case had another "beautiful point" in it.

Almost immediately the trial began.

The evidence varied but little from the facts already detailed. The attending physician was very decided in his opinion that the testator, at the time of signing the paper in question, was in the full possession of his mental faculties.

The signature of the absent witness was sworn to by Mr. Jackson himself, who further testified that the deceased had requested MacPherson to witness the instrument, at the same time declaring it to be his will.

At Tom's instance, I subjected this witness to a searching cross-examination; but he stood fire like a salamander. He swore that the testator had not only dictated every line of the will, but had heard it read, and had twice read it over himself before executing it. I gave him up in despair.

At length the evidence closed, and I rose to present our point.

It was put in the shape of a motion to direct a verdict for the contestant, on the ground that the witnesses had not subscribed in the presence of each other.

I was about to adduce arguments and authorities when the judge interposed: "The rule you claim undoubtedly was the law, and should be so still, but a recent statute has changed it. The witnesses need not now sign in each other's presence."

A hasty examination proved his Honor was right, and our main point was done for.

To our great relief the court adjourned for dinner. We were to sum up in the afternoon. That task, on our side, was assigned to me, but I felt it was hopeless. I was determined, however, to take what satisfaction I could out of Jackson, by abusing him as soundly as the rule of the court would allow. And after all, who could tell? The jury might take the bit in their mouth and give us a verdict in spite of the law and the evidence. Responsibility becomes amazingly light when divided by twelve.

On the reassembling of court I was a little surprised as well as annoyed at Tom's absence. Could it be he was leaving me in the lurch and staying away to avoid the mortification of our final defeat?

I had just risen to address the jury, when somebody plucked me by the coat.

It was Tom, his eyes fairly gleaming and his whole frame in a tremor of excitement.

"What's the matter?" I whispered.

"MacPherson's here."

"What! the other witness?"

"Yes; just arrived, not an hour ago."

"But will it help us to call him?"

"Trust me for that. Put him on the stand at once."

"What shall I ask him?"

"No matter; you can't go far wrong; if you miss anything I'll prompt you."

Tom was evidently full of some mystery with which he was bent on taking everybody by surprise, including myself.

In a few words I explained to the court our reasons for wishing to reopen the testimony. Jackson turned pale, and whispered nervously to his counsel, but they shook their heads; our application was one that would be granted, of course.

"Call your witness," said the judge.

"Donald MacPherson," shouted Tom. The witness, a brawny, honest-faced Scot, advanced to the stand, and was sworn.

"Go ahead!" Tom whispered.

"Mr. MacPherson look at that signature, and tell us if it is yours.

"It is."

"Do you know the signature to the right of it?"

"Yes; that is the signature of Mr. Andrews."

"Did you see him write it?"

"No, but I am weel acquent with his hand."

"Were you requested to witness that paper?"

"Yes."

"By whom?"

"By Mr. Jackson."

"Did Mr. Andrews say anything about it?"

"No; he was dead when I came in."

There was no cross-examination.

"I submit the case without argument," I said resuming my seat.

Our senior opponent was one of those lawyers with whom it is a matter of conscience to show fight to the last. In a brief speech he admitted it to be essential that both the witnesses should have signed their names before the testator's death, but claimed that, inasmuch as the testimony of Jackson and MacPherson was in direct conflict on this question, it must be left to the jury.

"Certainly," answered his Honor. But when he had concluded his charge there wasn't much of Mr. Jackson or his testimony left.

The jury gave us a verdict without leaving the box.

Tom, I am sorry to say, behaved very unhandsomely in the division of the spoils.

Although I was liberally paid, he took the widow and her whole fortune for his share.

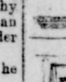

As for Jackson, not being quite as conscientious as Judas, he didn't go out and hang himself. But at the rate he is going on it will take more law than he knows to keep him much longer out of the penitentiary.

THE Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES.

An Address by the Dean of Vanderbilt University, of Nashville, Tennessee.

Yesterday the weather was perfect and the churches were well filled. The Eastern delegates to the Young Men's Christian Association's Twenty-seventh Annual Convention to be held in San Francisco, arrived in the city yesterday morning to the number of about a hundred, and all of them attended church, while more or less of them assisted in the services. In the evening Dr. W. F. Tillett, Dean of the Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tennessee, filled the pulpit at Trinity M. E. Church South, and his address was particularly fine.

Y. M. C. A.

Gospel Meeting at the Congregational Church.

The Young Men's Christian Association extended the courtesies of Los Angeles yesterday to numerous visiting members from the East who are on their way to attend the twenty-seventh annual convention at San Francisco. After visiting various churches throughout the city the home members and their visitors assembled at four o'clock at the Congregational Church, on the corner of Third and Hill streets, where a gospel meeting was held, led by F. A. Hatch, of Kansas city. The church was well filled with young men, who appeared to enter very heartily into the services. After singing of several songs by the congregation, assisted by an orchestra and a double made quartette formed of members of the Association, Mr. Hatch requested those present to select and read verses from the Bible which they thought applicable to the occasion and deserving of particular attention. In this manner excellent texts for thought were brought to light, and after half an hour spent in this manner and singing of more hymns, Mr. R. A. Orr of Pittsburg, and Rev. R. W. Beattie, of Grand Rapids, led in prayer. Quite a number of the visiting delegates then spoke shortly on the teachings of Christ on the example set by him, and on the great good religion is to all young men. The meeting was one of great utility in showing to the citizens what a powerful society the Association is for the good of young men. Among the visiting members were W. W. Vanarsdale and wife, of Chicago; Geo. T. Howser and wife, of Cincinnati, Ohio; R. W. Beattie, of Grand Rapids, Michigan; John R. Schermerhorn, of Harrisburg, Pa.; R. C. Caldwell, of Union City, Tennessee; Thos. A. Baduer, of Milwaukee; Prof. H. Coon, Geo. T. Fisher, of Kansas City, John L. Speares, of Sioux City, Iowa; Jacob G. Kessler, St. Louis, Mo.; E. A. Holdridge, of St. Paul, Minn.; R. S. Smith, of Los Angeles; Robert P. Hill, of Chicago, Ill.; R. J. Nast, of Pomona; S. M. Rowe, R. C. Campbell, Bishop King, Will J. Green, W. J. McCarroll, city; Stewart McKenzie, of Nova Scotia; W. J. Nicholson, Geo. H. DeKay, W. J. Gilchrist, Frank F. Laurey, J. C. Gilbert, city; W. A. Smythe, of Sitka, Alaska; Richard L. Robert, of Bucksport, Me.; H. P. Case, of Colo; W. S. Reed, of San Francisco; O. Rynivery, of Beloit, Wis.; Robert A. Orr, of Pittsburg; Francis B. Holt, of San Bernardino; Rufus W. Smith, of Chelsea, Mass.; Dick Roberts, of Topeka; A. Smith and W. S. Daugley, of Coricane, Texas.

HEAVEN.

Dr. W. F. Tillett of Nashville, at the Trinity M. E. Church.

Dr. W. F. Tillett, Dean of the Theological department of the Vanderbilt University of Nashville, Tenn., officiated at Trinity M. E. Church both morning and evening yesterday, taking for his subject in the morning "Hell" and in the evening "Heaven." His morning discourse disclosed the fact that his idea of future punishment was not in the form of physical suffering by fire and torment, but was more of a mental suffering, analagous to the mental suffering we have in this life when we have done wrong. Every person's "hell" is made by himself and the punishment in the future life must be borne by that person in the manner suitable to his temperament. In the evening Dr. Tillett presented the bright side of the picture taking for his text the fourteenth chapter of John, verses two and three as follows:

"In my father's house there are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you; and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also." There is one question now more important than all others, and that is: What fate awaits us when we die? If a man die, shall he live again? There are many proverbs that tell us there is something hidden in the heart of man that assures us there is another world. The Bible tells us to read our titles clear to mansions in the sky. There is perhaps scarcely a single human being who has not thoughts of a hereafter. A man once was heard to say that he had never thought of death until his baby died. It sometimes happens that God teaches us there is a life to come by little things. A shepherd once wanted to take his flock from the dry and arid plains below up a mountain path to green and everlasting pastures above. He tried to lead them, but they would not lead. He tried to drive them, but they would not be driven. Finally he took a little lamb in his arms and its mother followed him; then another followed and another, until finally the whole flock went up the mountain to the pasture lands. So, sometimes, God tries to lead the father and mother to heaven, but they will not go, neither can He drive them by affliction and distress, but when He takes the little child in His arms, then oftentimes the father and mother follow, and finally the neighbors and friends are led to the pasture land, which is never exhausted, but is ever green. An artist once conceived the idea of painting two pictures, one of innocence and the other of guilt. He searched until he found a child the picture of innocent childhood, and this infant was taken as his model for innocence; but, search far and wide, he could find no face which seemed to him to represent guilt. Finally, after twenty-five or thirty years, he found a face, which he took as a model, and what was his suprise to find that it's possessor was the same person whose picture he had painted as a child. God has set people to painting, and they must decide which image they are going to paint of life. In painting, every one should consider that they are painting for eternity. There are four questions which are asked about heaven. First, where is it? second, when is it? third, whose is it? fourth, what is it? In answering, the Bible does not depict certainly the geographical situation, but heaven is where Christ is. The second question is solved by all christians, who having studied the Bible, were of the conclusion that the souls of all who die pass immediately into an intermediate state, prior to the entering of the Kingdom of Heaven, which happens at the last day. Heaven belongs to everybody who desires to go there. It is waiting for all. There are in the house many mansions, and as to what heaven is everyone has his own conception, but it is where the master is, any it is composed of the house with many mansions.

RIGHT OF PETITION.

How to Pray and What to Pray For.

Yesterday morning Rev. W. A. Knighten took for his subject, at Grace M. E. Church, on First street, "The Right of Petition," and, in the course of his remarks, said that salvation depended upon prayer in a great measure. The person seeking admission into heaven and the presence of the Master must possess faith, and must believe the teachings of Christ. Peter, when he began to sink beneath the water in following Christ, had faith that his Master would save him, for he cried out to him. Christ did save him from perishing, and, if it was possible for Him to do this by stretching forth His hand, it is just as possible for Him to do the same with us, only we must send our petition or prayer to Him, without which He will do nothing. Prayer is necessary, and the manner of praying enters into the subject with considerable importance. Many people think they cannot pray in public, but they can, with practice, if they be true Christians. But, while public prayer is good, the main object of the teaching of the Bible is to instruct us to pray in private. The Pharisees prayed in public too much, and were set before us as an example not to follow, but to avoid. The true place of prayer is in the closet, where we can enter into close communion with God, and give ourselves to him. Many expect an answer to prayer, not at once, but in years to come. Some are satisfied to ask for deathbed grace, but this is not what they should ask for. They should ask for immediate grace, living grace, so that they can live in the manner best suited to the wishes of Christ. The idea of deathbed grace is repugnant to true christianity. A sinking man does not ask to be saved to-morrow or at some future time. He wants to be saved at once. Neither does a leper ask to be made clean in ten years in order that he may pass the mean time in his miserable situation. He asks immediate relief and that is what we should do; ask for immediate relief from sin. Then many people do not ask for enough. They seem to think that they cannot obtain large favors, but they are mistaken, for does not Christ say, "Ask, and it shall be given unto you." Therefore people should not be afraid to ask for salvation, not only for themselves, but for their brothers and sisters. They should ask for the salvation of all sinners, that in the life to come all may be joined in one great church with Christ Jesus at its head.

REV. W. J. CHICHESTER.

His Sermon at the Installation of a Pastor.

Last week the new pastor of the Arlington Presbyterian Church at Riverside was duly installed. Rev. W. J. Chichester, pastor of the large First Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, presided and preached the sermon from Matt. 13 3, "Behold, a sower went forth to sow." As the photograph of a rose preserves the outline of the queen of flowers, but can preserve neither the color nor the fragrance, so an outline sketch of Mr. Chichester's sermon cannot reproduce the charm of ringing utterance and animated beauty of his thoughts. Those who heard him can easily understand why his church is always crowded.

After a brief introduction, Mr. Chichester smarply and clearly elaborated the following points: 1st—Christianity is not the development of an old principle in man, but the implanting of a new. Every germ of divine life is implanted. There is no such thing as spontaneous generation in religion. Salvation comes from without. Evolution, cultivation, education, civilization do not, and cannot develop godly piety and salvation. This parable of Christ overthrows all this modern nonsense of Christianity being a development from what is already in man. Man is merely soil. Christianity is a divine seed from the skies dropped into the soil.

2d—Christianity is constructive not destructive. Christ came not to destroy, root up, cut down, but mainly to sow seed.

There is an aspect of Christianity which is polemic. But the church is commissioned above all things else to build up, not destroy. Good is to overcome evil. Iconoclasm, criticism, bitter accusation and denunciation are not God's way of furthering his kingdom.

It is not by abusing what in other people we don't like, but by showing them a better way, and filling their hearts with seeds of truth and righteousness that Christ's kingdom is promoted.

3d—Gospel fruitage depends rather upon the soil than upon the sowing.

Good hearing makes good preaching. The pews can preach as loud and faithfully as the pulpit.

4th—The Germans call this parable, not as we do, the parable of the sower, but the "four kinds of soil." It is the condition of receptivity on the part of the hearers that makes all the difference between barrenness and a harvest.

(a) Hard hearts, that hear the gospel and make no use of it at all.

(b) Shallow hearts, not much better than hard hearts—the sort who make a wonderful amount of noise for a little while and then as suddenly quit. As Spurgeon says, they are "little hyssops who think they have grown into cedars of Lebanon in a week's time."

(c) Thorny ground hearts. They are good soil, but it is preoccupied. They might do wonderful things for Christ and his cause, but it all goes for "cares of this world, deceitfulness of riches and lusts of other things," and the gospel graces yield no fruitage.

(d) The best soil, the only valuable soil, "good, honest hearts" who receive the word, nuture it by faith, meditation and prayer, and yield the fruits of righteousness. Fruitage is the great object for which the seed is sown. "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit."

After the sermon, Mr. Gage went forward and gave assent to the constitutional questions; and by uplifted hands the church and congregation gave assent to the questions asked of them. Mr. Chichester then, on the authority of Presbytery, declared the pastorial relation established.

As is customary in the Presbyterian church, a charge was then given to the pastor by Rev. Wm. Donald, who based his address very pertinently upon the words of our Savior: "Therefore, every scribe (or pastor) who is instructed into the kingdom is like unto a man that is an householder who bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old." He dwelt touchingly on the points suggested; namely,

(a) The intense manhood of the pastor. He should be a man in every sense of the word, physically, intellectually, and morally. What the church and the world want is not more men, but more man.

(b) The minister and pastor must be an instructed man.

(c) He is a householder, and the head of the household of faith—the family idea of the church is here implied.

(d) He is to be possessed of a treasure—eminently the scriptures and the gospel are the treasure from which he brings forth for the supply and edification of the people.

(e) Things new and old. New experiences, and old doctrines. New love and life and joy out of the old, old story.

Bro. Donald closed with an earnest appeal to faithfulness, watchfulness and prayer, and pointed to the glorious hope, margin) "They that be teachers shall "They that be wise" (or as it reads in the shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever."

A charge was then given to th congregation by Dr. J. B. Stewart, in place of Bro. Ellis, who was absent in San Francisco.

Dr. Stewart's address was pungent and pointed and shot straight at his hearers.

The law of correspondence applies here. Pastor and people are mutually dependent, and supplement on one another's work.

The church must realize that they have much to do in making the pastor's work effective.

Your pastor is a man, and only a man. He therefore needs your support—the temporal support you have promised, and the moral support which will sustain his efforts. He will need your sympathy and kindness. Don't expect him to be all the time in his study, and all the time out visiting among you.

Don't expect him to know you are sick without your telling him.

Be tender of your pastor's reputation, it is worth to him more than anything else in rendering his work a success. His reputation is his capital.

Don't be afraid to encourage him. Omit invidious comparisons; let him have his own personally.

And be workers together with him in winning seuls to Christ and in building up the church in faith and holiness.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Congressman Abbott, of Texas, in the City.

Hon Jo. Abbott, Representative in Congress from the Sixth District of Texas, arrived in the city by the Sunset excursion yesterday. Mr. Abbott was formerly District Judge in Texas of the district composed of the counties of Johnson, Hill and Bosque, and was considered the ablest and clearest-headed judge on the bench of Texas. This is his first election to Congress but it is safe to predict that his course in legislative halls will win for him even more fame than his career upon the bench. Texas now has a very able representation in Congress, and Judge Abbott will be in good company. As his district is about 20,000 Democratic it is not hard to guess the political proclivities of the Judge. Aside from everything else in favor of Judge Abbott, he was, when he admitted the writer to the bar in Texas, considered the handsomest man in that State of fine-looking, stalwart men. The Judge is accompanied by his family and will spend some time in Southern California.

A Saloon Fight.

Yesterday evening J. Lenart was passing by a saloon on the corner of First and Alameda streets and heard a row in progress inside. Stepping in he took a hand himself for the purpose of quelling it. Two men seemed to be the principals and these he endeavored to separate but was cut across the right wrist with a butcher knife. Officer Auble, who was attracted to the scene, arrested James Madden, whom Lenart identified as the party who cut him. Officer Auble searched Madden for the knife but could not find it, but it was afterwards found in the sawdust. Madden was charged with an assault with a deadly weapon, and Lenart had his wrist treated at the Police Station.

A Parting Serenade.

Miss Leila Farrell, of New York, who has been visiting friends in Los Angeles for the past three months, was the recipient of a serenade on Saturday night, shortly after midnight, tendered to her by some of her many friends. The serenaders were accompanied in their songs by mandolins and guitars, and the music at that hour of the night was exceedingly enchanting. Miss Farrell has made many friends while in Los Angeles, who will regret her departure for her home in New York, this morning. She has improved greatly in health while here, and intends to come again next year.

Thanks.

We desire to express our grateful thanks to our many kind friends and neighbors who rendered such valuable services and kind attentions at the fire which consumed the Ashley Hotel on Monday evening; and to the police force and many others for their untiring efforts in saving and guarding our property.

Candall, Crow & Co. are now at 133 and 135 West First street, with full line of stoves, mantels and grates.

Burbank.

Lots are selling as fast as the contracts can be made out in the town of Burbank, owing to its many advantages and improvements. The office of the company is nearly completed, the fine hotel is well under way, water is being now distributed over the entire tract, and the rates of fare by the Southern Pacific will be reduced to 60 cents round trip, commencing next week.

Cement.

The Los Angeles Storage, Commission and Lumber Company, San Pedro street, near Third, are doing the largest business in cement of any concern in the southern part of the State. Being agents of Davis & Cowell, the heaviest importers of cement in the State, and having superior warehouse facilities, they can sell cement as low or lower than any other dealers, and will not be undersold.

Agony is Courted

By persons who, attacked by a mild form of rheumatism, neglect to seek prompt relief. Subsequent torture is prevented by an immediate resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Slight exposure, an occasional draught, will beget this painful malady, where there is a predisposition to it in the blood. It is not difficult to arrest the trouble at the outset, but well nigh impossible to eradicate it when matured. No evidence in relation to this superb blood depurent is more positive than that which establishes its efficacy as a preventive and remedy for rheumatism. Not only is it thorough, but safe, which the vegetable and mineral poisons, often taken as curatives of the disease, are not. Besides expelling the rheumatic virus from the system, it overcomes fever and ague, biliousness, constipation and dyspepsia.

Startling but True.

WILLS POINT, Texas, December 1, 1885.

After suffering for more than three years with disease of the throat and lungs, I got so low last spring I was entirely unable to do anything, and my cough was so bad I scarcely slept any at night. My Druggist, Mr. H. F. Goodnight, sent me a trial bottle of DR BOSANKO'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP. I found relief, and after using six $1.00 bottles, I was entirely cured. J. M. WELDEN. Sample bottle 5 cents at C. F. Heinzeman's.

Twin Foes to Life

Are Indigestion and Constipation. Their primary symptoms are among the most distressing of minor human ailments, and a host of diseases, speedily resultant from them, mutually aggravate each other and assail at once the whole machinery of life. Nausea, Foul Breath, Sour Stomach, Dizziness, Headaches, Bilious Fever, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Kidney Diseases, Piles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dropsy, and various Skin Disorders, are among the symptoms and maladies caused by derangement of the stomach and bowels.

A Thorough Purgative medicine is the first necessity for cure. Then the cathartic effect must be maintained, in a mild degree, just sufficient to prevent a recurrence of costiveness, and at the same time the liver, kidneys and stomach must be stimulated and strengthened.

Ayer's Pills

Accomplish this restorative work better than any other medicine. They are searching and thorough, yet mild, in their purgative action. They do not gripe the patient, and do not induce a costive reaction, as is the effect of other cathartics. Withal, they possess special properties, diuretic, hepatic and tonic, of the highest medicinal value and

Absolutely Cure

All diseases proceeding from disorder of the digestive and assimilatory organs. The prompt use of AYER'S PILLS to correct the first indications of costiveness, averts the serious illnesses which neglect of that condition would inevitably induce. All irregularities in the action of the bowels — looseness as well as constipation — are beneficially controlled by AYER'S PILLS, and for the stimulation of digestive organs weakened by long-continued dyspepsia, one or two of AYER'S PILLS daily, after dinner, will do more good than anything else.

Leading Physicians Concede

That AYER'S PILLS are the best of all cathartic medicines, and many practitioners, of the highest standing, customarily prescribe them.

CALICO, Cal.—I have had the Catarrh for five years and could hardly talk plain; I could not breathe through my nostrils. Your California Cat-R-Cure has cleared out my head and I can talk plainer now than I have for the past five years. Your medicine is all it is represented, an absolute cure for Catarrh and cold in the head.

Yours truly, CHARLES C. OVERSHINER.

WOODLAND, Cal.—Your medicines are selling better than any other shelf goods, and give satisfaction to all purchasers. The Cat-R Cure is praised very highly by all who have tried it, and many cases have been greatly benefited by its use when all other remedies tried have proved of no benefit. Yours truly, POND & LAWSON.

FOLSOM, Cal.—I used Butte-Tine in chronic rheumatism with great benefit. Please send a supply to J. W. Haines, Genoa, Nev., and oblige yours truly, F. C. DURANT, M. D.

BELLE OF NELSON DISTILLERY COMPANY.

OFFICE—NEW HOPE, NELSON CO., KY. MAIN OFFICE—123 and 125 EAST MAIN ST.

LOUISVILLE, KY., JANUARY 1, 1886.—The letter below is published for the information of Druggists who sell alcoholic liquors. DR. D. W. YANDELL, eminent as a Surgeon and Physician, not only in the United States, but in other countries, recently addressed the letter, of which the following is an autograph copy, to a medical friend in Philadelphia. The letter tells its own story:

LOUISVILLE, KY., December 1, 1885.

MY DEAR DOCTOR—In answer to your inquiry as to the comparative value of brandy and whisky in therapeutics, I have briefly this to say: After a long and very careful comparison, at the bedside, of the effects of the best Cognac Brandy and the best Kentucky Whisky, I am satisfied that the action of the latter is as speedy, pleasant and enduring as that of the former. There are, as you already know, many fine whiskies manufactured in this State under different brands. Among them I may name the BELLE OF NELSON as being thoroughly well made, honest, straight and mellow, and for these reasons being specially fitted as a remedy where alcohol is indicated.

Always faithfully yours, D. W. YANDELL.

For the information of the trade generally we append copy of a letter from Captain Theodore C. Tracie, who was for ten years connected with the United States Internal Revenue service, and was thoroughly familiar with the methods of distillation pursued in Kentucky and elsewhere. In his capacity of United States Internal Revenue Agent, in charge of the Division of Kentucky and Tennessee, he made frequent examinations of distilleries, and the statement made by him is entitled to high consideration:

LOUISVILLE, KY., January 1, 1886—Mr. Robert F. Tilford, President Belle of Nelson Distillery Company—Dear Sir: For several years it was my duty as Internal Revenue Agent to examine the Distilleries in Kentucky and other States. As I reported, a few years ago, after making careful examination of the methods pursued in the distillation of BELLE OF NELSON WHISKY, I found the article to be literally a pure hand-made Sour Mash Whisky—every stage of the process being similar to the old-time method—no large tubs, patent rakes, yeast or cold slop being used, fermentation being produced by natural and unaided causes. The proportion of rye and malt to corn used in the formula was about 33 per cent., which made the product very expensive, but it produced a whisky which is all you represent it in purity, smoothness and incomparable flavor, having no superior in the State. I can heartily indorse the high encomiums which have been passed upon this well known whisky for many years. Yours truly,

THEODORE C. TRACIE, ap27—1m Late United States Internal Revenue Agent.

EXCURSION ARRIVES.

Probably the Last of the Season.

ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

E. B. McCord Handles the Party—Wm. Meinhold Pullman Conductor.

Yesterday a monster excursion came in over the Southern Pacific in charge of E. B. McCord, with William Meinhold as Pullman conductor. The passengers all express themselves as delighted with the trip and particularly with the kind and courteous treatment of those in charge and of the railroad officials. Following is a full list of names!

The first section of the Texas & Pacific excursion was brought in by Charles C. Barret, traveling passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific road, from Kansas City.

One of the cars had the following printed on canvas and hanging from its side: "Y. M. C. A. Watchman; excursion party to San Francisco."

They are on their way to attend the Y. M. C. A. International Convention at San Francisco. They will on returning prepare speeches of what they saw in the wild west and deliver them before their respective committees. Nearly every State in the Union is represented.

Cure for Piles.

PILES are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by E. F. Heinzeman.

Soothes and Heals

The combination of Abietine Balsam and Mountain Balm in Santa Abie soothes and heals the membrane of the lungs, inflamed and poisoned by disease. It prevents night sweats and tightness across the chest, cures coughs, croup, asthma, phthisic, pneumonia, hoarseness, loss of voice, and allied complaints. Use as directed; if the effect desired is not produced, money will be refunded by C. H. Hance.

Price 25 cents. Sold by C. F. Heinzeman.

Face Powder.

Don't use poisonous face powders. Freeman's medicated invisible is guarenteed absolutely harmless, preserves the complexion removes blemishes and retails for two bits, try it.

The Original

Abitiae Ointment is put up in two ounce tin boxes, and is an absolute cure for old sores, ulcers, burns, wounds, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands and all skin eruptions. Will positively cure all kinds of piles. Ask for the Original Abietine Ointment, in two ouce boxes. Price, 25 cents. For sale by Preuss & Hance, Druggists, 77 and 71 N. Spring street.

Quantity in medicine is no indication of value. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is concentrated and powerful; requires a smaller dose, and is more effective, dose for dose, than any other sarsaparilla. It is the best of all blood medicines.

Cure for Sick Headache.

For proof that Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills cures Sick Headache, ask your druggist for a free trial package. Only one for a dose. Regular size boxes 25 cents. Sold by C. F. Heinzeman.

Why Children Cry

For Santa Abie is on account of its pleasant taste, and old folks who have used it will never be without this King of Cough Cures, for it will relieve more cases of Asthma, Croup, Cold, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough and all throat and Lung troubles, than any medicine in this world. Guaranteed by C. H. Hance.

The enervation and lassitude of spring time are but indications of the sluggish action of the blood, overloaded with carbonates accumulated by the use of heating food in winter. This condition may be remedied by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier known.

Distress After Eating.

This result of indigestion will no longer be experienced if Simmon's Liver Regulator is taken after each meal. It is such a good digester and so mild and pleasant in its effect that it is used by many, after a hearty meal, to insure good digestion. The Regulator does not nauseate or irritate the stomach, but corrects acidity, dispels foul gases, allays irritation and assists the stomach in its digestion.

Unnecessary Misery

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children; 25 cents; at all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co. proprietors, San Francisco.

Improvements.

The steady sale of lots in the town of Burbank continues. Mr. L. T. Garnsey and T. W. T. Richards have contracted with Mr. E. W. Mathews for four fine buildings, to be commenced at once and completed inside of ninety days; also the contract for a double store, costing a number of thousands of dollars for E. E Hall has been let, and Downey Harvey, G. W King and W. H. Goucher will also let their contracts for fine buildings at once.

LORDSBURG!

LOOK OUT FOR

Grand Excursion and Sale at Lordsburg!

The Date Will Soon Be Announced.

The Coming City

—OF—

POMONA VALLEY.

—LOCATION—

The Most Beautiful in Southern California.

PURE PIPED MOUNTAIN WATER FURNISHED AT ONCE.

THE PIPES NOW BEING LAID.

Surface Water 8 to 20 feet--Very Soft and Pure.

The Atchison Railroad Now Building Through the Town.

And the foothill line of the Southern Pacific surveyed half a mile further north—School Buildings and Churches to be erected at once—A portion of the purchase money to be devoted to School and Church purposes.

A FINE VIEW OF THE SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

To the west and the SANTA ANA VALLEY to the east.

THREE SALIENT POINTS:

No. 1—Artesian water is found under 200 acres of the townsite at a depth of from 75 to 180 feet.

No. 2—Pure, Cold, SOFT WATER is found under the whole tract at from 8 to 35 feet deep.

No. 3—Mountain water is brought in from the celebrated Indian Hill artesian wells in iron pipes under 100-foot pressure.

Among the coming towns of Southern California, none are laid out with a view to future growth and prosperity, on a grander scale, or in a more beautiful locality than LORDSBURG, Los Angeles county.

LORDSBURG is located on the Atchison system of railroads—the Los Angeles and San Bernardino line—four miles northwest of Pomona, in a most beautiful portion of the valley, which is as level as a floor over the entire tract, which is a mile square. Through trains will run over this road probably by the 20th of April. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company are now surveying a line from Ramona (Shorb's Station) past the Raymond Hotel and thence along the foothills above the Atchison road to San Bernardino, and probably thence to connect with the main line after going through the East San Bernardino Valley. Thus LORDSBURG will at once have one line of railroad, and within a few months it will have a second.

No Lots will be sold at LORDSBURG until the day of sale, which will be announced hereafter. From this rule there will positively be no deviation. The price of lots will be scheduled at popular prices, and the lots will be sold at these prices. The choice of location will be sold at auction, and the money paid for this choice will go into an improvement fund, which will be devoted to the building of schoolhouses, churches and other public improvements, the details of which will be more definitely announced hereafter.

On the day of sale, which will be duly and extensively advertised, there will be a grand excursion from Los Angeles, and another from Riverside and San Bernardino, over the new line of road, at prices as low as can be had.

It is the intention of the proprietors of this tract to make the coming sale of lots at LORDSBURG the crowning act of the season in real estate operations, and to this end a crowd of people will be gathered on the day of sale. But ample accommodation will be provided for their comfort, so that every one will enjoy the May-day picnic

The best business men of Los Angeles look upon LORDSBURG as the coming town of the interior, and are making arrangements to invest accordingly. A large number of business men stand ready to commence active building operations immediately after the sale, with a view to securing the stores built. They would commence at once but for the rigid rule that no lots will be sold in advance of the hereafter-to-be-advertised day. The town is now being platted and surveyed, and in a few days more particulars of the sale will be publicly announced.

IVANHOE

700 Acres in Los Angeles

DIVIDED INTO ONLY

1300 LOTS!

PRICES OF LOTS.

Up to 100 Feet Front, $150. Half-acre Lots, $200. From 1-2 to 1 Acre, $300. From 1 to 4 Acres, $400. 5 Acre Lots, $750.

TERMS—One-fifth cash, balance in eight equal monthly payments, without interest.

These prices will continue only until June 1, 1887, when they will positively be advanced. All who purchase before that date will have the benefit of the advanced prices.

The entire tract is beautifully situated, with a charming view, pure air and water and perfect drainage. The Ostrich Farm Dummy Railroad runs through the tract, with a five-cent fare guaranteed to and from the center of the city. This road will be completed to the tract July 1, 1887. Pure and abundant water will be piped through all the streets.

The title to the property is absolutely perfect. A complete abstract will be kept in the office of the Company for the inspection of all purchasers, and a certificate of title will be furnished to each buyer with his deed.

This tract is situated upon the hills, which are rapidly becoming the most desirable residence portion of the city. The soil is a warm, sandy loam, free from frost, being in what is known as the warm belt. The elevation is such that the temperature is more even than in the city.

NOTE—THE FIRST PURCHASERS HAVE FIRST CHOICE.

Free carriage to the tract every day from the office of the agents, at 9 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. Maps and circulars and all information can be had from

The Illustrated Herald.

A full supply of the ANNUAL HERALDS re now on hand. Newsdealers and others should avail themselves at once to send in their orders. No better evidence of Southern California's advantages could be sent to Eastern friends.

News Notes.

Work has been commenced on the grade for a switch at Glendale:

East Los Angeles is to have a Knights of Pythias Lodge to be called the "Samson."

The annual picnic of the French Benevolent Society will take place at the Arroyo Seco on the 12th of June.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe overland train due last night is detained. It is reported to be twelve hours late and due at 9 o'clock this morning.

The funeral of the late Horace Burdick will take place at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, 23 Second street. The I. O. O. F. will attend the funeral.

The friends of Peter Tormey will sympathise with him in the death of his infant daughter which sad event occurred yesterday. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock.

A company of Pasadena capitalists have purchased a thousand acres of the south part of the Maclay tract in San Fernando and are going to make a junior Pasadena on their tract.

The list of uncalled for letters remaining in the Los Angeles postoffice will be found in this issue. This list is published by authority of the Postoffice Department only in the HERALD and is official.

The May Festival to be given for three nights, commencing May 25th, by the ladies of the Catholic Churches of Los Angeles and Wilmington at Armory Hall, will be a grand and most enjoyable affair. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Catholic Church at Wilmington.

The Eastside Champion has moved into its handsome new quarters, and on last Saturday evening editor Weed gave a housewarming in the shape of a dance in the composing room. The Champion is given to innovations; it has a "devil" in the person of a charming young lady.

The ladies of the Third Congregational church have organized a working society, and will hold their first social at the church, corner of Railroad and Chavez streets on to-morrow evening. The Sabbath school of this church will hold its annual picnic at Sycamore Grove on the 14th inst.

A new paper has been issued at Anaheim called the New Era. It is a bright, newsy sheet and is published by the Anaheim Publishing Company. The salutatory says that the paper is not there for the purpose of crushing anybody, but to enter into lively competition for a share of public favor.

Thirty carloads of passengers went to Santa Monica yesterday. The reduction of fare for round trip on Sunday to fifty cents is one of the causes of this tremendous travel. The rates north, south and east on Sunday to half fare for round trip, is also having its effect. The arrival of Sunday is looked for now with increased interest.

Mrs. Martha A. White, teacher of the Pearl street school, was agreeably surprised by her appointment to the principalship of the railroad street school, by the Board of Education. She had not the remotest intimation of the the promotion, and received her first knowledge of it in reading the report of the Board in the HERALD of yesterday morning. Mrs. White is a most thorough teacher and has no superior in the management of schools.

Personal Mention.

Major B. C. Truman has started on a trip to Europe.

A. N. Seypolt, of Ballona Harbor, is at the Grand Ceatral.

A. W. More and wife, of Santa Barbara, are at the St. Elmo.

Mrs. S. S. Murdock, wife of the State Railway Commissioner of Minnesota, is visiting Los Angeles.

Dr. E. Robbins, the well known therapeutic bath proprietor, returned from San Francisco yesterday.

Col. A. B. Hotchkiss went yesterday to Santa Barbara to attend as counsel in a noted suit previously mentioned in the HERALD.

W. M. Glenn, of the Colton Daily Semi-Tropic, was in the city yesterday to take part in the great baseball game between the Coltons and the Los Angeles club.

Alex. Pratt, formerly the official short-hand reporter of Merced and Marin counties, is in town for a few days on his way to San Diego on court business.

Hon. B. F. Porter returned yesterday from San Francisco. He stopped over one train at San Fernando and arrived on the local in the evening. He estimates the present wheat crop will turn out a fair half crop but nothing more.

Mr. Geo. K. Porter arrived last night from San Fernando. The details of his great sale of land will probably be arranged while he is in the city. In the meantime H. T. Harding will make a survey of the tract.

Row on a Train.

There was another unsavory occurrence on the train returning from Santa Monica yesterday afternoon. Several disreputable women and their more disreputable companions, in one of the cars, indulged in hooting, yelling and singing in a manner that would have put an Apache to the blush. Several rows arose and some of the hoodlums attempted to fight. Thanks to Sheriff Keys and General Hewitt, however, the Sunday excursion trains to Santa Monica carry determined officers on each trip, and officers Darcy, Seekatz, Del Valle and Constable Ed. Smith stepped in and quelled the disturbers of the peace of the other passengers, and put them under arrest. The ocean breeze at Santa Monica has an exhilerating effect on some people, but all such have to curb their exuberance when such officers as those mentioned above are present.

Merchants, Read This.

To those subject to the vexations of business life, dyspepsia and a feeling of debility, irritability and despondency, we say, take Simmons' Liver Regulator. The Regulator is free from any injurious mineral substance; not disagreeable; can be taken at any time without interfering with business or pleasure. It is gentle, safe, and a good digestor. It is unequalled in the cure of piles, constipation, bad breath, sick headache and bilious complaints.

A PICNIC.

How a Select Party Spent Yesterday Pleasantly.

Now that the winter is over and spring has ushered itself upon us in all its beauty, picnics and excursions will be quite frequent. Yesterday a very sociable party of about thirty people took their teams and went on a private picnic to Devil's Gate cañon, a most romantic and beautiful spot, located about five miles northwest of Pasadena, and near the base of the Sierra Madre mountains. The day was one long to be remembered by those present. Every one had a most enjoyable time, and the little children in the party were as happy as could be running through the brooks and vales barefooted and followed by the anxious parent. The usual picnic pleasures were indulged in, but that which seemed to be the greatest pleasure was the lunch, which Jerry Illich pronounced the finest that he had ever seen set before a hungry crowd. There was a large variety of choice home-cooked viands. Every one seemed to be fortunate in bringing something different, and the collation was one which for variety, quality and quantity could not be found in the castle of a monarch. The scene at the impromptu dining table was one that beggars description and can be better imagined than described. Speeches and pleasant remarks were made and responded to, some humorously and some with a feeling fitting to the occasion. After lunch the crowd broke up into parties of from two to ten, some enjoyed a gentle siesta on the mountain side, where fresh zephyrs ladened with a delicious fragrance from the wild flowers, fanned them into the arms of Morpheus. Others picked wild flowers and took positions to view the country with their field glasses. Every one found some amusement and recreation. The party returned to the city last evening well pleased with the manner in which the day had been spent. Among those present were Mayor Workman and wife, A. H. Denker, wife and child, Ivar A. Weid and daughters, Vital F. Vignes and wife, J. L. Vignes and Miss Meca Blome, Henry Denker, Mrs. Ruell, Joe Bayer and wife, Mr and Mrs. C. F. A. Last, Jerry Illich, Walter S. Moore and children, Miss Rachael Happ, Misses Helen, Dela and Julia Vignes, Mrs. R. Bilderrain, R. E McGregor.

Mirth and Music.

This week at the Opera House will be devoted to mirth, and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Knight will furnish enough fun to make all the theatre-goers grow fleshy, for the saying is "laugh and grow fat," and there will be enough laughter to produce this result.

The stars and their company come here with the best of reputations and it is said that they do nothing that is not well done. The company includes specialists in the line of versatility, and they are good in each of the following plays which will be presented commencing with Tuesday evening: Over the Garden Wall, Rudolph, Baron Von Hollenstein, and Otto, a German.

People's Store.

To the public: As we have but three windows in which to show our "specials," and as we intend to give sweeping bargains in every department in our house each day this week, it is an impossibility to display each and all of them in our windows, but if you will kindly note the items in the morning papers and request one of our many floor walkers to show you the department in which those specialties are offered, you will find them as surprising as any we place in our windows.

We will first mention, and that slightly, for if we were to comment on them at length it would require an entire sheet of this paper.

OUR LACE SALE

Will be the largest sale we have yet inaugurated this season. The sale comprises Oriental laces of widths ranging from 2½ inches to 18 inches wide and prices ranging only from 5c to 25c. The cheapest of these laces are worth, at the lowest, 25c a yard, and the best as high as 75c. Included are silk, Spanish, guipure laces from 10c to 50c; Valenciennes laces from 1c to 25c a yard, and others at similar prices. Crowds of people have stood at our window and wondered how it was that we were able to offer such values for the money. We admit this is the first time during our business career that we are able to do so.

As great as any will be our sale of checked Nainsooks. It is hardly necessary to dwell upon them as every lady knows that the cheapest are worth 10c a yard and even this being a better grade than those usually sold at 10c, they can readily appreciate what a bargain we are offering when we mark this line at 5c a yard.

We will have displayed in our south window a line of children's silk and fancy trimmed bonnets at $1.98; the bare material costs more money than we offer the entire bonnet for. They are worth from $4 to $5 each. A glance at them will satisfy you that such is the case.

During the day we will place on sale on our underwear counters ladies' muslin skirts at 25c each, just half the price of their real value.

In our dress goods department we will place on sale several lines of dress goods which we are desirous of closing out, and if price will do it we are sure to accomplish our object. They consist, in part, of plaids, double fold 38 inches wide, and elegant patterns at 30c a yard; formerly sold at 50c.

We have also a few pieces of diagonal dress goods at 6½c a yard; sold heretofore at 12½c; double fold, 38-inch cashmere, in all colors, at 20c a yard. Surprising at this price.

Corset covers, trimmed with embroidery and tucks for 25c each, worth 50c.

In our notion department we will sell ladies' white sets of collars and cuffs at 14c a set. We sell them daily at 25c.

8-4 turkey red table covers, fast colors, and will be sold to-day at 75c each, other days we sell them at $1.50.

Imitation silk lace parasol covers, in cream, for 65c each, worth just twice this price, $1.30. PEOPLE'S STORE.

Notice.

There is no block 101 in the town site of Burbank, and if any one has books to open for the sale of lots in that town at $150 each can probably save themselves that trouble by finding ready purchasers at the office of the Providencia Land and Water Company, opposite Nadeau House, Spring street.

Bethune.

The most beautiful and accessible town yet put upon the market consisting of 220 large lots each having an abundant supply of pure water.

It is situated immediately between Alhambra and Ramona on one side and the Raymond and South Pasadena on the other, as well as some of the finest hotels all around it. The tract is quite level yet still high enough to afford the most perfect drainage.

The new railroad to Long Beach is to pass through with a depot on the tract and it is only a few minutes walk from the street cars for Pasadena, Alhambra and the Raymond.

The price of lots will be placed very low compared with adjoining property in order to give our customers the benefit of the rise.

This tract will be placed upon the market on the 16th of May. Come early to avoid the rush. RUSSELL, COX & CO., Agents.

Two new freight elevators for sale by Childs & Silent, office No. 8 S. Main street.

John Wieland Brewing Co.

Of San Francisco received during 1886 first medals and premiums for best "Bottled" and "Draught Lager Beer" at State Fair, Sacramento, Mechanics' Fair, San Francisco, San Joaquin Fair, Stockton, and Sixth District Fair, Los Angeles. This celebrated lager is for sale at nearly all the leading saloons of Los Angeles. Steinike & Bruning, 322 North Alameda street, are the sole Agents and Bottlers.

Burbank.

Forty-three lots, 50x179 feet, at $150 each. These lots are in one of the finest locations in the town, being in block 101, lot 1, on Providencia avenue and Second street. The books will be open Monday, May 9th. If you want your choice call early on owner, Geo. W. Booth, 134 North Main street.

Lovely Lordsburg.

Maps are now ready at the office of John C. Bell, the auctioneer, 17 Temple Block, over the County Bank.

Ghirardelli's prepared cocoa, most excellent substitute for tea or coffee.

Notice about Burbank.

Forty-three lots advertised as for sale in block 101, town of Burbank, are entirely ficticious, as no such numbered block is located in that townsite. Anyone having lots for sale at $150 each in Burbank will probably find ready purchasers by applying at the office of the Providencia Land and Water Co., opposite Nadeau House.

National Opera Co.

Specially received for the opera season a select assortment of opera wraps at reasonable prices. H. MESGROVE & CO., 21 South Spring street.

DIED.

CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APplied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic features is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acid fluid, but often an offensive, purulent, or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downward, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with gluish tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucous into the throat so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged by way of the nostrils or throat in lumps or fragments of a deep green tint. In some cases these incrustations accumulate to such an extent as to form a regular plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort, so firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; but unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which in time may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, slimy secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities and then putrifies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are others in which all the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the bones of the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression over the forehead, especially in the region above and between the eyes, and to a feeling of fullness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes there is pain obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits, and occasionally pain manifests itself in the face of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted and at times assumes an exceeding fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable stuffy sensation in the head, and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffing quality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent attempts to clear the parts of phlegm, producing the sound "hem" more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fullness, or a choky sensation in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness, for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious and nearly always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility; is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment threatened.

The mucous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest causes, so that at last a breath of wind upon the lining of the nose or throat becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, each attack aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse and involving a larger extent or surface than its predecessor. In this manner the difficulty spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larynx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, encroaching further and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

OZŒNA.

Ozœna is the professional or technical name given to the advanced form of catarrh in which ulceration has eaten through the membrane lining of the nose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozœna, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrils or through the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or greenish yellow color, frequently tinged with blood, and almost always attended by an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, "The disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physician has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to isolate him from society and to render him an object of disgust even to himself." In some cases pieces of bone become separated and slough off, leaving deep, unhealthy ulcers, which secrete a bloody matter and are extremely difficult to heal. After ozœna has continued for some time the sense of smell usually becomes impaired and often lost. Deafness is one of the most common consequences, and results from its extension through the eustachian tubes to the internal ear. Pains in the head and over the frontal sinuses, impairing memory, and even insanity frequently springs from its extension to the brain. The greatest danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present in some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh or ozœna, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhappiness to thousands of both sexes, by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people, for no young people should ever think of marrying while afflicted with catarrh.

Those who visit Southern California, after trying every known remedy and failing in obtaining health through climatic changes alone, would do well to try this wonderful system, which is revolutionizing the whole medical science and effecting cures in this very city in persons given up to die.
